Week-End Rendezvous Rocks World

Margaret, Peter Reunited Where Love First Came

Armed Police Guard Estate

WINDSOR, England (UP)—Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend retraced today the paths where they first fell in love, and some Britons accepted the fact of their week-end rendezvous as the next best thing to a formal engagement.

Squads of police armed with jogs and walkie-talkie radios mounted guard around the country estate in the wooded hills near Windsor Castle to shield the couple's secrets from an anxious and prying world while a powerful segment of the British press rose to their defence.

The world, rocked first by Townsend's visit to the princess at Clarence House in the presence of the Queen Mother, was rocked again today by the Windsor tryst, even though an icy statement from Clarence House seemingly denied the signs of an early engagement.

It said "no announcement concerning Princess Margaret's future is at present contemplated."

OCT. 25 KEY DATE

It was believed a formal announcement—if one is forthcoming—would have to await the meeting of Parliament Oct. 25.

The RAF group captain and the princess went separately to their week-end rendezvous, Townsend in his green French sports car, the princess in a black sedan whose speed along back country roads belies its sedateness.

The rendezvous was at the home of Mrs. John Wills, on the border of Windsor Great park where Townsend courted Margaret two years ago on hikes and horseback.

EFFECT NULLIFIED

If Margaret expected the brief and tart announcement from Clarence House to discourage the expectation of a forthcoming marriage, she nullified it by her flight to the country to be at Townsend's side.

Her sudden sweep to Windsor for a house party at this crucial juncture was sure to shock the sensibilities of British bluenoses worse than any single incident since King Edward VIII's open courtship of the divorcee, Wallis Simpson.

What loneliness and anxiety burdened Queen Mother Elizabeth were not known as she waited alone in Clarence House for the week-end events to unfold.

UNEXPECTED SUPPORT

Unexpected support came today from The Manchester Guardian, one of the most influential newspapers in Britain. It said the couple should be allowed to marry even if by "remote chance" Townsend should one day sit beside the throne, as consort to a British queen.

Speaking of the Royal Marriage Act of 1772 which requires the Queen's permission to wed before the age of 25 and the

Unknown Civilizations

Scientists Find Ancient Ghosts In Far North

OTTAWA (BUP)—Traces of probably the oldest known civilization in the Canadian north were uncovered this summer in the Yukon just 20 miles from the Arctic Ocean, Northern Affairs Minister Jean Lesage disclosed yesterday.

Lesage termed the find "one of the most significant archaeological discoveries ever made in Canada."

The find, which produced tools and implements of four civilizations hitherto unknown in the Canadian north, was made by a party headed by Dr. Richard S. MacNeish, chief archaeologist with the National Museum of Canada.

The party spent two months digging during the summer and was constantly beset with driving winds, fogs and snowstorms. The party's camp was flattened on three occasions.

NINE CIVILIZATIONS

Traces of nine northern civilizations were uncovered in the Yukon find, all in an area about 600 by 1,200 feet, on the banks of the Firth river. Of the four hitherto unknown, one "may well be the oldest so far discovered anywhere on the northern part of this continent," Lesage said.

"Many of the 8,000 artifacts found at the site this summer are identical in design and concept to others which have been unearthed in eastern Siberia and other parts of eastern Asia," Lesage said. "They would seem to give further substantial evidence that there was a considerable influx of people and ideas from eastern Asia to this continent, via the Bering straits."

STOPPING POINT

MacNeish said yesterday it was obvious that the area had been a "sort of grand central station of the north where everybody stopped." "We uncovered hundreds of implements made of bone and stone —scrapers, arrowheads and flakers," he said.

"We also unearthed a considerable quantity of pottery, some of which may be connected with Siberian archaeological cultures 3,000 to 5,000 years old.

"However," he added, "our most interesting discovery was made in the permafrost. We had found a number of implements belonging to the oldest civilization known to have existed in northern North America. Then, under a layer of clay, several inches below these artifacts, we found 10 exceedingly crude stone implements, obviously from an even earlier civilization."

No complete skeletons were found this summer, MacNeish, however, is hopeful that future work will uncover some.

He will head another party to the site next summer.

Peter's Mother Speaks

STOGUMBER, England (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Townsend, a frail grey-haired widow, waited with the rest of the world Friday night to know if her son has won the hand of a princess.

For the 65-year-old mother of RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend it was no royal problem or affair of state, but just a question of her son's happiness.

"I have been so terribly worried about him," she told reporters.

"He's had years of unhappiness. All I long for is to see him happily married again, as my other children are."

Leaning over the garden gate outside her honey-colored cottage in this sleepy Somerset village, Mrs. Townsend spoke gently to reporters who asked if she would be meeting Princess Margaret soon.

"I haven't made any plans yet," she said. "I haven't bought a new frock or anything. I haven't even had my hair permed."

Of the Princess, she said:

"She is a very courageous woman who has had a lot to contend with. It is wonderful the way she has stood up to things and stuck it out."

Seriously Ill

DAVID BEN-GURION

Israeli defence minister and prime minister-designate David Ben-Gurion is seriously ill, it was disclosed Friday. An official communique said he had passed a good night. It did not mention the nature of the illness, but it was believed Ben-Gurion had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage.

Tass Man Banned By RCAF

OTTAWA (C.P.) — Vladimir Vashedchenko, correspondent here for the Russian news agency Tass, has been barred from barrier trials of the CF-100 all-weather jet interceptor plane at Uplands Airport the week of Oct. 31.

An air force spokesman said barring him has no connection with a Tass report which appeared in Moscow during External Affairs Minister Pearson's visit there this week.

That report quoted Air Commodore Fred Carpenter of the RCAF as saying that the RCAF air division in Europe is poised for attack on Russia. Carpenter and the defence department denied he had made any such statement.

An invitation to the Parliamentary Press Gallery to attend the CF-100 trials specifically stated that the Tass correspondent was excluded. The invitation came from FO Trevor Collins, RCAF public relations officer.

The CF-100 trials involve deliberately crashing a twin-engine jet into a barrier to test the accident prevention device.

Ottawa in the Dark

Canada, Britain, U.S. To Swap Most Secret A-Information

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defence department said Friday that agreements have been signed making possible the exchange of secret atomic information among the United States, Britain and Canada.

There was speculation that information on nuclear engines for submarines and surface ships was involved in the pacts.

In answer to questions, a department spokesman said the second of two agreements, covering the Atomic Energy Commission's part in the information swap, was signed last month. An agreement relating to the defence department's part was completed in July.

The agreements were made possible by amendments last year to the Atomic Energy Act, relaxing some of the original sharp restrictions on exchange of any type of secret information, even with allied countries.

The spokesman said he could not comment on details of the agreement.

In Ottawa, officials of the defence and external affairs departments said they are unaware of any new agreement under which the U.S. will provide Canada with nuclear information of a military nature. They also said they know of no U.S. plans to make such information available.

Canada and the United States last June signed an agreement providing for a wider exchange of information for development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. Under the agreement the U.S. is prohibited from giving Canada nuclear information of a military character.

Richard III's Man

ROBERT MONTGOMERY

Americans Off to War To Clear King's Name

NEW YORK (NANA)—After lecherous, ambitious and bloodthirsty is a calumny. They think it was purposely begun by Richard's enemies in order to defame him and has since survived because later writers—including Shakespeare — were willing to repeat the untruths rather than study the full evidence.

a 470-year interval, a group of distinguished Americans have banded together to clear the name of Richard Plantagenet.

Plantagenet, son of King Richard II of England, himself reigned as King Richard III from 1483 to August 22, 1485. On that day he was killed in the battle of Bosworth. Ever since, history has painted him as an evil-eyed, hunchbacked monster who murdered his way to the throne.

But all this is nonsense, according to the friends of Richard III, Inc.

An organization of theatrical and professional people, the friends believe that it's high time Richard III got a fair shake. The organization aimed at cleansing the king's memory includes as members, Helen Hayes, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Robert Montgomery and James Thurber.

They maintain that the reputation of King Richard III as

For example, the 1955 edition of one encyclopedia declares "there is little doubt" that Richard murdered two young nephews, heirs to the throne, in the Tower of London. Friends of Richard III contend that "it has not been proven that the boys were murdered at all," much less by their mistreated uncle.

Richard must be spinning in his grave at all the scandal spread about him in later years, says the friends of Richard III. Their purpose is to perpetuate his memory and "to see that misrepresentations are no longer perpetuated in text books and histories."

Whooper Lovers Win Concession

WASHINGTON (UP) — Defenders of the great white whooping cranes handed the powerful Strategic Air Command a resounding defeat Friday.

The air force announced it was abandoning plans to expand the danger zone around a flash bombing range off the southeast coast of Texas where the rare birds spend their winters.

The decision ended a prolonged controversy which saw the air force pitted against the Canadian government, bird societies and even the U.S. fish and wildlife service.

The air force announcement made no direct mention of the whooping cranes, saying only that there had been a conflict of interest "between military requirements and private interests."

But that was its way of saying the crane lovers had won. There are only 26 of the great birds left and this country and Canada are doing their utmost to keep them from going the way of the now-extinct passenger pigeon. Canada had sent a formal note to Washington calling attention to the danger to the rare birds.

The strategic air command operates the Matagorda bombing and gunnery range off the Texas gulf coats near a national wildlife refuge where the whooping cranes winter.

Early last summer, SAC proposed extending the "surface danger zone" of the range, contending the cranes would not be affected any more than they are now.

Two Men Lost

An intensive search was launched by RCMP yesterday afternoon for two men believed missing in 60-mile-long Knight inlet on the mainland.

The men were reported overdue in their boat by the forestry service at Alert Bay.

Alert Bay RCMP said last night: "We don't have the names of the men. We believe they are forestry workers."

Blackjack in the Office

Raging Over Lunch, Mom Clubs Principal

WEIR, Miss. (AP)—A blackjack wielding mother, irate over school hour regulations, attacked the school superintendent and principal, sheriff Boyce Erwin said Friday.

Sheriff Erwin said Mrs. Jess Adams was angry about a school regulation that students eat at the school cafeteria or bring their lunch.

She went to the office of superintendent C. H. Henderson during school hours, locked the door and attacked Henderson with the blackjack, Erwin said.

When principal R. H. McDowell rushed to the office, she unlocked the door and hit him in the face with the blackjack when he entered.

Mrs. Adams filed countercharges of assault and battery with intent to kill against Henderson and McDowell. The Oct. 22 hearing will include these charges.

Seattle's Luxury Homes Get Yawns from Russians

SEATTLE (UP) — An 11-man troupe of Russian housing experts took a gander at some $25,000 homes here Friday and bluntly told their hosts they weren't impressed.

Harold L. Larsen, regional vice-president of the National Association of Home Builders, pointed out the homes as the delegation was motoring by bus to Everett, 30 miles north of here.

"We are now passing some homes that cost from $25,000 upward," he said.

The interpreter translated. A Russian voice spoke unconcernedly. "They don't care," said the translator.

The visitors appeared awed by the roadside motels. They indicated they thought them very small housing units for the underprivileged.

A Russian volunteered, through the interpreter:

"The Russians cannot be held responsible for this."

Burning-Eyed Billy Graham

$100,000 Target Exceeded

At Mid-Crusade, 4,555 Make 'Decision for Christ'

TORONTO (CP)—They came in cars, buses and trains. They came from little ports on the Great Lakes, Ontario manufacturing towns and even from Detroit and Montreal.

In thousands they sat on benches in the waterfront Toronto Coliseum. They sang hymns, prayed, laughed, and listened silently as the intense young man with burning eyes beseeched them to remake their lives.

In hundreds they went forward to make "decisions for Christ."

Midway in the last week of Billy Graham's month-long Toronto crusade, 4,555 had walked to the platform at the handsome evangelist's call.

At two special services, 682 young people and 630 children more than 11 years old had also come forward.

With three days left to go, some 350,000 persons had attended the services. Officials expected the final total to exceed 400,000.

"This crusade has developed into one of the greatest that we have ever conducted," Dr. Graham said. "There is evidence everywhere of the same driving spirit that we felt in Great Britain."

Financially, the crusade was equally successful. With three days to go, the $100,000 financial target had been exceeded by $15,000. Dr. Graham said the extra money would be used to help cover a later campaign in India and the Far East.

He said he is especially delighted at the support from Toronto clergymen. An average of 600 attended each Friday morning's "workshop on evangelism."

Each night from 25 to 30 separate delegations — from points in Ontario, Quebec, northern New York and neighboring Michigan—travelled to hear him. Three times his service was piped by special wire to audiences in the Ontario cities of Kingston, Stratford, Owen Sound and London.

In Ottawa one night he spoke to 25,000.

In what little spare time he had—not enough for a round of golf, his favorite game — he worked on the manuscript of a forthcoming book and on drafts of articles.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

OLD-TIMERS from the comfort of their easy chairs often denounce the present generation for being too cautious.

"Security is all these modern young people think about," they say.

Perhaps the charge is true. Within recent [illegible] the world. The shadow of possible disaster lies over the world now.

If the children of this peculiar age take refuge in a comfortable burrow, from which they peer at the surrounding wilderness with a wary and cynical eye, their behavior can be explained. Perhaps it cannot be entirely excused, but that depends on the point of view.

With all deference to the veterans, I suggest that they judge their juniors a shade too harshly—as veterans seem to have done since the beginning of time.

It is much easier to go adventuring when you have a safe base to operate from. Our grandfathers had certain values and institutions that provided a refuge for the mind, if not for the body.

Many of those values and institutions have now crumbled away as though eaten by termites.

More and more people are coming to feel that the world is not a friendly place, and never was. Hence they may seek and cling to what security they can find.

* * *

However, the notion that all young folk are hiding from hazards and changes is of course a false one.

I know some contemporaries who have the knack of leaping from one job to another, and always somehow landing with all four feet on a higher economic crag.

And there are some who jump across a great professional gap from one apparently settled job to another, quite unrelated.

A newspaperman I know, after some years in the business, has quit and gone back to college. He is going to be a teacher.

A fellow who was a business-office cashier for five years has suddenly switched over to apprenticeship in a newspaper press-room, where his salary will go down for a while and then improve greatly.

I know a man who used to be a plasterer—a well-paid trade. He quit and went into the news-gathering business. He is now doing quite well on the news staff of a radio station.

A Mounted Policeman bought his way out of the force and went back to selling advertising.

A friend of mine who is a welder threw up his trade and set up a small trucking business; took a dislike to that, went back to welding, and is now ready to emigrate to the United States, where he can earn $1.75 more an hour than he does here.

* * *

We need some people who stay in one place and one job, and plug for security. In this turbulent world, it's natural for them to do so.

But there is no shortage of adventurers. Just offer me a job running guns to South America, and see what happens. You're right. I would turn it down. But there would be lots of takers.

YMCA Visitor

Executive secretary of the International Committee of YMCAs, Herbert Lansdale will arrive from New York tomorrow for the final day of the two-day B.C. regional conference of YMCAs at Brenta Lodge. Other speakers are Wes McVicar and Robert Torrance, both of Toronto, Canadian national secretaries for physical education and extension, respectively. Delegates are attending the meeting from all parts of the province.

Princess Stands To Lose Succession and Allowance

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret could lose her right of succession to the throne and £15,000 a year if she married Group Captain Peter Townsend.

This would be true unless Parliament were to make sweeping constitutional changes and decide to wipe out the 200-year-old act which governs royal marriages.

The act was drawn up in 1772 by George III, angry because his relatives had married brides of whom he did not approve.

Though at the age of 25 the princess can marry without the consent of the Queen, she must under the act give 12 months notice of her intention to the Privy Council, whose members include cabinet ministers, peers and high Church of England officials.

THIRD IN LINE

If Parliament disapproved, any marriage would be null and void unless Margaret had previously renounced all her rights and those of her descendants to the throne. At present she is third in line of succession.

Parliament would almost certainly accept the renunciation, leaving her free to wed.

With her royal status would go the £6,000 she is given by the state as a spinster and the £15,000 a year scheduled for her on a normal royal marriage. But she [illegible] lems because of private wealth.

Next problem facing Margaret and Townsend would be how and where they would marry.

CHURCH OPPOSITION

No high dignitary of the Church of England would perform the ceremoney for the church has set its face against remarriage of divorced persons. But some lower-ranking clergyman might be found to volunteer.

Otherwise the ceremony could be held in a civil registry office—unlikely—or it could be performed in Scotland, whose Presbyterian Church does not object to marrying the innocent party in divorce. There has been speculation that if a marriage is planned it would be performed in ancient St. Giles cathedral in Edinburgh.

To Protect Spawners

Salmon Nets Out At 6 p.m. Sunday

Salmon net fishing in waters around Vancouver Island and the lower mainland will end at 6 p.m. Sunday for the remainder of the season to protect chum and coho spawning stocks, A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of fisheries, announced yesterday.

Fishing will reopen in Broughton strait, Blackfish sound, Sattilite channel and Cormorant channel Nov. 6, at 6 p.m., until further notice, Mr. Whitmore said.

In announcing the closure, he noted that the total catch of chum in the area to date is less than half that of the cycle year 1951, although the fishing effort was as intensive as in any recent season.

He said practically no spawners have passed above commercial fishing boundaries in all areas of the district and fish now remaining in the commercial fishing areas are needed for reproduction purposes.

He blamed the diminishing returns on survival conditions, either in fresh water or in the ocean.

Further conservation measures may be necessary, Mr. Whitmore said, if runs do not develop in areas which will remain open. They are the Fraser river, Howe sound and Burrard inlet.

Provincial Problems PTA Parley Theme

Strengthening the role of PTA as a provincial body and discussion of local organizational problems will be the main topics covered at a regional conference of PTA representatives from South Vancouver island and the Gulf islands here next week.

The two-day meet, sponsored by the Victoria and District Council, will be held Tuesday at North Ward school and Wednesday at St. John's parish hall.

Purpose of the conference, officials said, is to provide information and instruction for executive officers, make suggestions for program planning, help local groups to find ways of solving their difficulties and demonstrate skills of group procedure and audience participation.

Open to parents, teachers, principals or any other persons interested in the welfare of children, the conference will include representatives from Victoria district, Colwood, Happy Valley, Sooke, Jordan River, Langford, Metchosin, Pacheena-Port Renfrew, Shanich district, Salt Spring Island the Gulf islands.

Citation Slated For Hutchison

Better understanding citations will be presented on behalf of the English Speaking Union of the United States to W. Bruce Hutchison at a luncheon of the Union Monday at 12.30 p.m. in the Empress Hotel's Duke of Kent room.

Presentation will be made by Mrs. James Griffith, director of the Seattle branch of the union. Representing the Vancouver branch will be Dean Henry F. Angus of UBC.

Persons who wish to attend the luncheon have been asked to call 7-3196 before Monday morning.

Neuberger To Meet Bennett

Senator Richard Neuberger, Democratic senator for Oregon, is expected to meet Premier W. A. C. Bennett and B.C.'s provincial cabinet next week.

Senator Neuberger was recently appointed by the U.S. senate to study B.C.'s plans for power development along the Columbia river. He has fought for cheap water power in the Pacific Northwest for years.

It is expected the Kaiser dam project and other proposed hydro-electric plans for the Columbia will be under discussion when the senator is in Victoria.

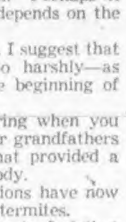
Garden Notes

Care Required Taking Sprouts



By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

With the early Brussels sprouts coming nicely into bearing, it is important to use the correct technique in harvesting them otherwise the supply may come to an untimely end.

One common mistake is for Mr. or Mrs. Gardener to squat in front of one plant and proceed to strip it of all its sprouts. The net result is one plant which is finished, making no further contributions to the kitchen, while the lower sprouts on all the other other plants are left on the plants too long, becoming "blown" and yellow.

The trick is to go right through the Brussels sprouts patch, taking only the lower one or two sprouts from each plant. Harvested in this way, there will be a continuous supply of sprouts for a long time to come.

* * *

While October is an excellent time to lift and divide most of our perennial plants, there are a few subjects which resent any disturbance in the fall. Pyrethrums, for instance, seem to have a pronounced tendency to pack up and quit if they are lifted and moved in the fall.

These Painted Daisies move and divide best immediately after flowering. It seems a bit queer to put the digging fork to them while they are in full growth, in early summer, but they re-establish themselves very quickly at this time.

Scabiosa caucasica is another plant which doesn't care much for fall moving, although you can often get away with it on warm, sandy soil. Early spring, when growth is just commencing, is more to the taste of this pincushion flower.

* * *

One troublesome spot in the garden which always makes a lot of back-breaking work is the place where the lawn joins the flower beds. The grass insists upon growing into the beds, and has to be pulled up painfully by hand, while the edging plants flop over the edge of the lawn, making mowing and edging a miserable chore.

This can be avoided, and an attractive feature added to the border, by leaving a space nine inches to a foot wide between the grass and the edging plants, and paving this space with shallow, flat stones, or filling it up with stone chippings.

These should be laid or placed just a trifle lower than the level of the lawn, so the mower can be run along the edge with one wheel on the grass and the other on the stones. You'll be surprised how many man-hours of kneeling or stooping this saves.

Bishop Suspends Church Services When Parish Rebuffs Negro Priest

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummell has suspended services at the St. Cecilia Roman Catholic mission at Jesuit Bend because parishioners refused to permit a Negro priest to celebrate mass.

The Archbishop also reduced services at Our Lady of Perpetual Help church at Belle Chasse and at St. Joseph mission at Myrtle Grove. All three churches are across the Mississippi river from New Orleans.

In a letter to members of the church and missions, Archbishop Rummell said he addressed "with sentiments of deep sorrow . . . the first communications of its kind in the long experience of 27 years during which we have been entrusted by the Holy See with the episcopal office."

CALLS IT VIOLATION

The letter told of the arrival of the Negro priest at Jesuit Bend Oct. 2, and added:

"He was approached by several members of the congregation and informed politely but in unmistakable language that he was not to celebrate holy mass in that mission chapel.

"The only reason alleged for the unwarranted interference with the discharge of his duty was the fact that he is a member of the Negro race."

The Archbishop called the incident "clearly a violation of the obligation of reverence and devotion which Catholics owe to every priest of God, regardless of race, color or nationality."

Rev. Clement Meyer, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church, identified the Negro priest as Rev. Gerald Lewis of St. Augustin's Seminary, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

NATO Nations Feel Undermined

LONDON (CP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization, a cold war baby, still has only its armor to wear despite the thaw in the international climate.

Canada among some others of the 15 NATO countries feels, as she has for some time, that it isn't enough.

"We have been beating the drum for article II for five years," a highly-placed Canadian officer with NATO said here recently. He referred to the part of the alliance's constitution which would provide for expansion of the framework to include economic, cultural and other ties.

Now Canada is canvassing ideas on how to challange the Russian peace and goodwill initiative, portrayed by such actions as the return of the Porkkala naval base to Finland.

SUPPORT THREATENED

"This doesn't mean much of a Russian sacrifice strategically," says the Canadian view. "But it understandably may can go."

make a big impact on public opinion.

Canada feels strongly that unless a broader raison d'etre for NATO is evolved, there is grave danger of public support for the armed alliance being sapped. This in turn would put pressure on NATO governments to weaken the organization knit together by Stalin's intransigence.

It is generally agreed that the causes for such concern are much easier to pinpoint than the solutions, and Canada makes no claim to holding the answer. But she feels one must be found soon.

"We know we can count on British and United States support on such matters," said the Canadian. "But some other countries like Italy and France tend to think otherwise.

"There is danger that they regard NATO as an alliance formed for one special job, and that when the job has been completed to their satisfaction, it

Outlook Bleak for Faure In Tuesday Confidence Vote

PARIS (AP) — With three days for reflection on whether to oust Premier Edgar Faure or let him continue in office a little longer, most deputies of the French National Assembly returned to their homes Friday to talk things over with the voters.

To stave off certain defeat in a confused all-night assembly session, Faure asked early Friday for the vote of confidence on his ability to carry out Algerian reforms. The request immediately suspended the debate. The assembly then decided to vote Tuesday.

This was the first time in his term of office—now a little less than eight months—that Faure had resorted to the confidence issue to sway hesitant supporters into line.

As of Friday, the outlook for Faure was bleak. Barring sudden switches of opinion during the weekend visits of the deputies to their home constituencies, there seemed to be almost no way for the premier to get a majority.

Strasser Returns

FRANKFURT (AP)—Otto Strasser, once leader of the Nazi Black Front, announced today he will head a new political party in West Germany—"The People's Movement for Unity and Peace."

Strasser came back from Canada last March after 22 years in exile, 10 of them at Bridgetown, N. S. For plotting with him to overthrow Hitler, his brother, Gregor, was slain in the Nazi party blood purge in 1934.

"The new party will seek the reunification of Germany through a policy of armed neutrality," Strasser said.

"It is being organized because the foreign political situation threatens the permanent division of Germany."

The "League for Germany's Renewal," which Strasser set up from abroad as a political pressure group, will adopt the new party's name and furnish the officials for party committees in the nine West German states.

A Happy Occasion

BRITISH COLUMBIA, and Victoria its capital city, will be honored today by the arrival of HRH Princess Mary for the second part of the central purpose which brought her to Canada: the inspection of The Canadian Scottish (Princess Mary's) Regiment, of which she is Colonel-in-Chief. Recently at Kingston Princess Mary inspected the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals in a like capacity. There could be no more welcome guest or a more happy occasion for Victoria: both out of loyalty and deep affection for the Royal Family, and from justifiable pride in the record of a regiment which won The Oaks at Ypres and followed that with outstanding battle honors in two world wars.

Victorians have followed with pleasure Her Royal Highness' tour across Canada, and the ready interest she has shown in distinctively Canadian features and Canadian scenes. During a five-day visit at Government House where she will stay with Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. F. MacKenzie Ross, the signal honor to be paid to The Canadian Scottish Regiment, calls at garrison and naval establishments in this area and the other events of a busy formal program may still leave Princess Mary a little time in which to become acquainted with Vancouver Island, now at its loveliest in Indian Summer days. From the peel of bells this evening at Christ Church Cathedral to the end of this, her first visit to British Columbia, Her Royal Highness will be assured of a welcome that comes from every heart.

Mr. Truman's Blunder

IT has been a matter for dismay for Canadians that so often Americans, their nearest neighbors and a friendly people, seem to know very little about this country's history, institutions and its record in peace and war. One hadn't thought that an ex-president of the U.S.A. would be equally ignorant. It almost passes belief that in his political memoirs, which will go into the record for posterity and become part of American history, he should make a serious factual error by citing Canada as a lend-lease beneficiary saved by the grace of its neighbor. Did he not know the true facts himself he should surely have known enough to find out before he wrote.

Ambassador Heeney has sought diplomatically to correct Mr. Truman in a letter to a prominent New York newspaper, with a copy being sent to the ex-president. The truth is that Canada neither received nor required a wartime cent from the U.S.A. Every transaction between the two nations was on a cash basis, paid on its side by Canada not only on the dot but sometimes in excess of the exact amount. Lend-lease was a contribution remaining ever to America's credit; without it the allied cause might not have prevailed. Nevertheless this country was not a participant. It was Canada's good fortune that she was able not only to pay her own way but also to assist others—and not by lend-lease but by outright gifts running into billions—and there is no desire to seek undue credit for this circumstance. The record is the record, however, and when it becomes an official record it must be set straight.

The Canadian war effort has probably not been fully appreciated; perhaps this country has been too modest, to the point even where its own citizens remain unaware of its magnitude. The military action, yes, because it was so visible; but the productive end and the assistance given to its allies, no. These have not been ballyhooed and there may be excuse for other nationals being unaware of them, although a wartime president of the U.S.A. should be well posted on the situation. Perhaps Mr. Truman is also unaware that in post-war aid to Europe and Asia this country contributed a billion-and-a-half dollars without any strings, an action that compares not unfavorably with his own nation's undoubted generosity.

The harm done by Mr. Truman's error in memoirs now being serialized in magazine publication will not be undone by Ambassador Henney's correction. Only a few of the Americans who are reading this presidential account may ever hear of the rebuttal. One trusts therefore that the forthcoming publication of Mr. Truman's story in book form may be corrected before it is too late. In the matter of facts an ex-president's recital should be above suspicion.

Elevation from Within

THE appointment of Judge Arthur E. Lord, of the County Court, to the Supreme Court bench in British Columbia this week after a long and able record in the lower trial courts is one that will commend itself to many citizens. This is promotion from within, the recognition of work done and a wise choice for senior office with heavier responsibilities. One such appointment in judicial circles may not establish a pattern, but one trusts that it may be a portent for the future. To Mr. Justice Lord will go the hearty congratulations of those who have been privileged to follow his record.

If the same course were followed uniformly in Canada, and men moved up from the lower courts to the higher and from that on into the highest tribunals of the land, this nation would be making the best use of its judicial talent and length of experience. More than that, there would be restored to the judiciary and the bar the sense of opportunity for advancement that should be their right. It is the interjection of other and extraneous factors which often in the past has militated against sensible progression in one of the most onerous and exacting of professions. The fact that Canadian courts are uniformly held in the high respect they are is a tribute to the responsibility in office of men who have carried the burden uncomplainingly.

Tenth Savings Issue

CANADA'S tenth savings loan is now going before the public with recurring opportunity for investment of personal funds in a safe, cashable and relatively high interest-bearing security. Individuals may put from $50 up to $5,000 in the savings bonds, either by cash investment or else through the steady channel of instalments on a definite program. Either way, they will have savings funds at work, and backed by the best security in the land. The Canada Savings Bond is distinct among government securities in that it is always worth its full face value, plus interest at 3¼ per cent per annum. It is thus free of market fluctuations, and infinitely flexible for the average investor.

Interpreting the News

A World of Suburbs

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

A FRIEND of mine was talking to his wife the other day about their children.

"Why Mom," he said, "do you realize that boy (now 8) will probably come in some day when he's 18 and announce that he's off for a dinner party in Cairo, but for us not to worry because he'll be back by midnight."

* * *

Such expressions have become common in the last 20 years, and even more so since the British produced a few of their Comet jet-liners, which made amazing performance records.

Twenty-eight years ago Pan American Airways made its first scheduled flight, 90 miles from Key West to Havana, in one hour. Today Pan American has a flight which makes it from Tokyo to Honolulu, 4,000 miles, in 9½ hours. But that's with the aid of the "jet stream," a high fast air current over the Pacific. That plane has a true speed of 425 miles an hour, and takes 12½ hours from New York to London.

* * *

Now Pan American has ordered 45 jet planes which will fly 30 per cent farther (about 4,000 miles unassisted by the jet stream) at 550 miles an hour. They will go into service in 1958.

But the most significant thing is not the advance in air performance which will be accomplished in Pan American's first 31 years. That has become an expected commonplace.

The true significance is two-fold: That these planes and others like them are the products of military research and the descendants of military planes; and that they will produce an age of 24-hour round-trips between any cities in the world. And today's jet-liners are only a beginning, as PAA's first 90-mile-per-hour Fokker was only the beginning of the first airline to girdle the earth from one coast of the United States to the other.

* * *

This contributes to the political impact already created by the vast ranges and speed of the big bombers.

The effects of a shrinking world have long been recognized and understood, but the fact that all capitals can become physical suburbs of any one capital drives the implications home with great force.

Refreshing

Gerald Waring

By FRANK KELLEY

STILL as refreshing as its banner implies, Spindrift evidently continues to be a welcome reminder of what is happening from month to month in the Cordova Bay area of Greater Victoria. Published by Cordova Bay Community Club, it contains many items of community interest pertinent to church, social, sport and vital statistics, the most recent issue in addition containing several well-considered contributions, one entitled "Gypsy Touring," being a continued story by Cyril Price which tells about a family auto ramble through historic mining areas of the Boundary Country of British Columbia and beyond.

Another feature article entitled "Cats" and attributed to "Pussy," embraces all animals of the cat family, refers to their traits, peculiarities and the methods applied to their successful training, something to which all kinds are amenable if the business is undertaken with some understanding and a lot of patience. "Pussy" also has some pertinent things to say about lovers of the domestic cat and kitten, and wonders how anyone ever owning such a comfort-loving creature as a house cat or kitten could have the heart to abandon it on the highway or to the mercies of a summer camping spot.

* * *

Then there is a dissertation entitled "Mystery," offered by "H.G." It has to do with the common craze for mystery and detective yarns apparent in more than one strata of society, a trend which must be highly complimentary to their originators and the publishers. He wonders and asks whether the reading of such stories can be worthwhile or deserves the viewpoint of those who claim it is a waste of time which could be better spent in persuing books which might have a tendency to improve the mind. This prompts some questions, as do you want to improve your mind? How much is your mind capable of being improved? What are you going to do after you have reached the limit of mind improvement?

Myrtle Dyer, co-editor of Spindrift, recalling a meeting of the Community Club in its formative years, refers to discussions which proved beneficial to the community-at-large. An important one had to do with opinions from the meeting dealing with the water "forced through our mains at present from our wells." Having been promised good water they had a right to expect just that. Apparently many residents had complaints about its being dirty, while the taps emitted bad odors.

* * *

It was also recalled that at the nine-year-ago meeting it was suggested that a committee should be appointed to attend regular meetings of the Saanich council, with power to speak in behalf of the club. There was concern over the small number of residents turning out to important meetings. So an inducement was suggested in the shape of light refreshments to be served after the business session was finished, as a means of getting members better acquainted. This responsibility was given to Mrs. Beveridge, while plans for the club's first New Year's dance were advanced.

Entitled "Walking Habits," another little bit by "H.G." appeared in the last issue. It is the kind of contribution that is always timely and reminds young and old of how they, without good thinking, fall into bad habits which have a tendency to promote accidents. Anyone can be thoughtless occasionally and upset the normal flow of traffic if safety regulations prescribed for busy areas are ignored, he emphasizes.

Reports From Abroad

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia—Life is quiet for Canadians in Cambodia. The biggest excitement they've had since the election here September 11 occured only minutes after my arrival by air from Saigon.

The Phnom Penh airport is near a Cambodian army weapons range, and as I drove away with Canadian commissioner Arnold Smith, a burst of gunfire punctured the plane.

A Polish diplomat who is Smith's opposite number on the International Supervisory Commission remarked dourly afterwards that the marksman courteously waited until the Canadian commissioner had left before he gunned the plane, which was carrying the new Polish commissioner for Viet Nam to the Communist capital at Hanoi.

It almost amounted to an international incident. However, as the only casualty was an ornate clock which an Indian officer was carrying to his new posting, and as the Pole didn't want anything to delay his return home, the commission tacitly agreed to forget about it.

* * *

One reason for the aplomb of the 32 Canadians on armistice duties in Cambodia is that nobody—well, almost nobody—ever gets hurt. When the police and the army staged a pitched battle in the middle of Phnom Penh over the arrest of a couple of ladies of the night who had soldier boy friends, about 1,000 shots were fired. One Cambodian was killed.

During the fracas a nervous Cambodian soldier pushed a sten gun into the stomach of an Indian army major. The latter pushed it aside with a "Don't be silly," and strolled between the lines back to his hotel.

Even the brigands who infest the rugged hinterlands give safe conduct to foreigners.

In truth, Cambodia's 27,000-man army is not of the best. Once former King Norodom Sihanouk publicly dressed down his prime minister during a parade because he thought the soldiers looked particularly slovenly. Another time, when the Viet Minh Communists invaded Cambodia, Sihanouk courageously went to the front to lead his troops, and then fled back to his palace when a Buddhist bonze warned him that he might be assassinated. He remained in the palace for three months.

* * *

In this anti-Communist country in western Indo-China—or what used to be Indo-China—the 4,000,000 descendants of the Khmers who built the magnificent temples at Angkor some 900 years ago are forging the political tools to give effect to their newly-won independence. At the moment the government is an absolute, oriental-type monarchy which seems to be passing its power over to an absolute, oriental-type dictatorship under the control of former King Sihanouk. A new kind of democracy, he calls it.

The Cambodians will crown their new king and queen — Sihanouk's father and mother on a date in November which the court astrologers have selected as being the most propitious. But Sihanouk is still boss.

When I went to the palace grounds to hear Sihanouk address a convention of his Sangkum Party, I was frisked by guards, along with everyone else who didn't have diplomatic or VIP status. But the one who patted my pockets was courteous, with an apologetic "Excuse" as he checked me for lethal weapons. In Cambodia they still like and respect westerners, in spite of the recent unpleasantness with the French.

The Packsack

A Likeable Breed

By GREGORY CLARK

THE American quiz programs have been very useful to Canada in one important respect. They have showed us, especially on TV but also on radio to some extent, the average American in a friendly and revealing light. Radio and TV had familiarized us in Canada with an entirely specialized type of American—actors, comedians, commentators and announcers who were of a distinct and highly selected breed: those who could hop, skip and jump to the split-second timing of radio and TV: those who could wisecrack, sparkle, mug, and reel off the patter of their trade like machines. While we Canadians had very large opportunities to meet Americans in business and during the tourist seasons, there nonetheless had grown, little by little, a fixed picture of Americans as being a breed of cat very different from us.

* * *

Now the quiz programs have drawn upon a very diverse selection of the American people, rich and poor, and the impression increases that they are very like ourselves. In the famous $64,000 series, particularly, the contestants have been types we know very well. They are not jumping-jacks after all. They are not wisecrackers. They are not assertive and slightly arrogant, or, should we say, overly self-assured. They have been, for the most part, modest, quiet-men and women with a good homely quality and, amongst the winners, an extraordinary awareness not only of the subject they are quizzed on, but of the world around them. They have been likeable.

* * *

Not so many years ago, before the development of our highways and the immense tourist invasion from the south, many Canadians had another specialized impression of Americans. In those days the great majority of Americans we saw in Canada were salesmen and commercial travelers. Without any disrespect to salesmanship, it must be said that selling does recruit men of extroverted and expansive temperaments rather than quiet, reserved personalities. In my own youth, we felt Canadians to be essentially different from the aggressive, back-slapping, over-chummy, slightly garrulous gents whom we mistook for normal Americans. They were merely normal salesmen of their era.

* * *

We are now being freed of a misapprehension induced by professional radio and TV personalities.

Under the Dome

By RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

PREMIER W. A. C. Bennett told a press conference earlier this week that he was not "bitter" about the outcome of the federal - provincial conference in Ottawa.

He said he felt no animosity towards Ottawa after the conference but only was "sad and disappointed" that federal authorities had ignored certain proposals which the premier says would benefit all Canada. In an official release, the premier said the government of B.C. was "very disappointed in the outcome of the deliberations."

But maybe he was bitter. He said "nothing was done" at the conference. Something must have been done. All those provincial premiers with their delegations of high-priced officials meeting the federal cabinet and their experts? They couldn't possibly have met for those two or three days without doing something.

They had their picture taken on the steps of the parliament buildings for one thing.

Premier Bennett also said B.C. had been singled out for unfair treatment by Ottawa, that Prime Minister St. Laurent's suggestions for a new tax agreement would leave B.C. worse off than before by millions of dollars and Quebec better off by more millions.

Surely the premier wasn't inferring that Ottawa was discriminating against B.C. for political reasons. Would the Liberals in Ottawa take a hostile attitude towards this province just because it elected a Social Credit government which, for the present at least, is popular?

* * *

There is obviously some explanation for the fact that Ottawa approved under former B.C. governments a tax agreement which recognized B.C.'s greater tax potential and now wants to withdraw its recognition of that principle. Mr. St. Laurent said the agreement with former Premier John Hart had been "a mistake," didn't he?

Take the proposals on health insurance. Both B.C. and Ontario had some ideas on that subject. Now Premier Bennett says "the response to our recommendations has been negative." What B.C. asked for was a preliminary study of a health program in which Ottawa would pay 50 per cent, and the participating provinces 50 per cent, of a plan to provide medical, dental, pharmaceutical and hospital services to every Canadian. How could the response be negative? Everyone knows that most Canadians want a national health insurance plan regardless of who proposes it. Just because Ottawa didn't appear to show any interest in the idea doesn't necessarily mean they won't investigate it in a few years.

The premier also said response to B.C.'s proposal for a joint program of public investment in roads was "vague and negative." He said the federal treasury would benefit from the resulting development. How could this be when the roads would be in the provinces, not in Canada?

And then there was the suggestion that the federal government make operative again the provisions of the federal Municipal Improvement Assistance Act of 1938 to provide municipalities with 2 per cent loans, guaranteed by the provinces, for self-liquidating municipal projects. Premier Bennett complains that Ottawa's answer was no. What's he complaining about? There was nothing vague about that. And anyway, he's been listening to municipal officials who say they are hard pressed for funds. Ottawa probably has some private information that this isn't true.

* * *

And finally there was B.C.'s proposal for a new system of sharing revenues from income and corporation taxes and secession duties. The premier's brief said it would "provide for a more appropriate division of the revenue fields under discussion." But those people in Ottawa were too smart for him. They knew that what B.C. and the other provinces really wanted was more money. And what's more, they knew the matter wouldn't really get "under discussion" anyway.

Premier Bennett said B.C. wasn't presenting an ultimatum but just bringing in some suggestions "for consideration by the conference." Now what was the point in submitting proposals for consideration when Ottawa had already told the provinces before the conference even opened they needn't expect any more money? If Ottawa's suggestions were "grossly inadequate" as the premier claimed, they at least were made in plenty of time to avoid a lot of tiresome discussion of the ideas the provinces planned to put forward.

Provincial taxpayers were saved the additional expense of keeping all those provincial officials in Ottawa discussing things they had already been told they couldn't have.

The premier even called the conference a "fiasco." He said nothing was accomplished which couldn't have been done by an exchange of letters.

But what about that picture and those lunches? And didn't they all make new friends? These couldn't be done by letter.

"This," the premier concluded last Monday, "to our great regret and disappointment, is the record of the federal-provincial conference."

implicit consent of parliament, the Guardian said:

"To invoke any of this mumbo jumbo now would be ridiculous. Better to repeal th act straight away as a matter of grace and fair play."

It took notice of the fact Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, like Townsend, is the innocent party in a divorce and said:

"If we can have a prime minister, cabinet ministers and judges who are 'innocent parties' we can, without feeling unduly disturbed in our moral fibre, give the same latitude to the Queen's sister.

"And if there is any difficulty about marriage by the offices of the state church, English nonconformity (Protestant denominations outside the Church of England) and the Church of Scotland, no less representative of the people of Britain, will be willing to do their part."

It was expected these considerations, along with the legal complexity of a Royal marriage will get an airing when Eden meets his cabinet Tuesday for the first time in several weeks. He is meeting Queen Elizabeth II the same evening.

Wednesday the Queen and Princess Margaret and other members of the Royal Family dine with the Archbishop of Canterbury, the head of the Church of England. The meeting has been described as "routine" but it began to take on more and more importance.

The story of the first evening together of Margaret and Townsend came from reports by police and servants. Townsend and the host, a wealthy tobacco scion, and his blue-blooded wife, met Margaret at the porch.

At dusk, Margaret and Townsend strolled through the ornate rose garden that lies near the 20-room mansion of Allanbay Hall. There was no moon, no stars, but it was a balmy evening in the sheltered valley of the Thames.

The couple returned to a lounge to await dinner. They sat before a cheery coal fire and then they dined. The party broke up just before 11 p.m.

NEWS LATE

Not until bedtime did newsmen learn it was to be a week end together. The news was brought by one of the constables patrolling the area.

One bit of excitement marked the night-long vigil by scores of newsmen outside the gates. A man dodged quietly through the gate and tried to disappear in the roadside darkness. He was almost frightened as the crowd closed in. He was the butler, returning home from his duties, wearing evening clothes and carrying his lunch wrapped in newspapers.

He refused even to say what he had served.

Wage Talks Resume

Talks aimed at settling the current dispute between The Operating Engineers (AFL-TLC) and negotiators for 20 coast lumber and shingle mills will resume in Vancouver early next week.

The two sides were brought together in the mainland city yesterday by Fred Smelts, Labor Relations Board official.

Edward Callan, business agent for the Victoria local of the union, said last night: "We feel something will come of it."

The union voted for strike action to back demands for a 10 per cent increase.

No strike deadline has been set.

'Clean-Up' Theme Closes Convention

Pre-logging and cleaning up waste after a normal logging show" were the subjects of yesterday's session of the Pacific Logging Congress whose theme is maximum utilization.

The three-day conference of more than 1,500 B.C. and Pacific Coast loggers, concerning the PLC's 46th annual meeting, wound up in Victoria yesterday afternoon.

Speakers from one B.C. and three United States firms showed pictures and lectured on the general subject of "Gathering up the Splinters."

Allen C. Smith of the Coos Bay Lumber Company of Oregon showed movies of his operation in which broken and undersized logs left on the ground by previous logging operations were gathered up and sold profitably as pulp and cordwood.

Joe Cliffe of Comox Logging Co. of Ladysmith spoke on the same subject.

Earlier in the afternoon speakers from various firms, and Chris Jorgensen of the B.C. Forest Service, spoke on "thinning" forests to increase value and size of timber.

The subject for the morning session was "pre-logging," weeding out over-mature trees without damaging young timber.

Chest Total $73,678

Employees Give

Sizable donations from many employee groups have helped push the Community Chest campaign total in Greater Victoria to $73,678.40, officials announced last night.

Latest figure is more than one-third of the $210,000 goal and compares to receipts of $68,682.99 at the same period in the drive a year ago.

Officials said that among employee groups, largest per capita gifts came from 650 employees of seven firms, and the average donation was $9.80.

Employers and employee gifts were T. Eaton Co., $4,500; Woodward's Ltd., $649; Island Broadcasting Co., $510; Victoria Box and Paper Co., $239.80; Standard Oil Co. of B.C., $129; F. W. Francis Ltd., $94.50, and Yorkshire and Canadian Trust Co., $76.

Persons missed by Community Chest canvassers were advised that contributions may be left at Eaton's box office, the main floor information desk of the Hudson's Bay Co., and Woodward's store.

Victorian Victim

Arnold S. Kerr, 21, of Quesnel, B.C., who was once a Daily Colonist carrier, was one of the two men killed last week in a highway accident near Prince George. He was a former student at the University of British Columbia.

Mr. Kerr lived at 1330 Hampshire, Victoria, until 1948, when his mother moved to Vancouver. His father was Lorne S. Farrell, who died in Victoria in 1946.

Scosky Admits Guilt On 12 Dope Charges

VANCOUVER (CP) — Eddie Scosky, 28, was remanded Friday to Oct. 20 for sentence on 12 narcotics trafficking charge to which he pleaded guilty.

Scosky also pleaded guilty to a charge of jumping bail.

He testified he was trying to "beat the habit" when he fled to Portland, Ore.

Magistrate Oscar Orr said he intended to impose consecutive jail terms on the drug and bail-jumping charges when Scosky appears for sentence.

Scosky pleaded guilty to eight single and four joint charges of selling heroin to police undercover agents between last June 1 and July 21.

The Crown contended he was a "higher link" than "just an ordinary pusher" in the underworld drug trade because he "obviously had connections" with syndicate king-pins.

Defence counsel said Scosky was suffering from a "rather active" case of tuberculosis and had a "large habit" of approximately 25 capsules of heroin daily.

James Malgren, 28, and William Slosson, 34, were each sentenced Friday to 10 years for trafficking in narcotics.

At New Westminster, acting on a tip from Hong Kong police, RCMP arrested two men and seized 1½ ounces of heroin, worth about $15,000 in underworld markets.

Joseph Wai Chan of Vancouver and Colin Chow, also known as Lum Yung Kim, of New Westminster appeared in court Friday on charges of possessing narcotics and were remanded to Oct. 24.

The men were picked up Thursday when police stopped a vegetable truck. The drugs were concealed in four small containers hidden in cabbage and lettuce leaves.

The seizure climaxed work by eight RCMP officers after Hong Kong police tipped that a small shipment of narcotics was on the way to Vancouver.

Minesweeper On Way Home

HMCS Minas, a minesweeper of the Bangor class, will leave the Canal Zone today and is due to arrive in Esquimalt Nov. 1, the navy said last night.

The ship, which left Halifax in September, will replace the minesweeper HMCS Sault Ste. Marie which will switch to the Atlantic fleet later in November. The Sault is presently undergoing refit at HMC Dockyard.

CREMONA, Italy (Reuters) — When Vincenzo Vagni, owner of a drug store here, opened his till he found that a rat had eaten 31,500 lire (about $50) worth of paper currency overnight.

Satirical Farce

Players' Club Offers 'Pulling the Curtain'

By BERT BINNY

Last night the Players' Club of James Bay United church opened "Pulling the Curtain," a satirical farce in three acts.

The Players' Club is remarkable primarily for the youth of the members, all the participants except one in yesterday's show being somewhere between the ages of 12 and 18. Nevertheless, they showed very considerable enthusiasm and, in several cases, considerable skill.

The difficulties always attendant upon production in a rather small auditorium and on a definitely small stage were neatly, adequately and, indeed, refreshingly overcome.

Some suspicion must attach as to the real identity of "Leffie Jewell Hunderstine," who carried much of the play. This was a nice piece of impersonation.

Beverly Smith, Kay Hodges, Rita Gallagher and Violet Smith gave nice performances, as did John Roberts and Eric Hodges.

The play, directed and produced by J. J. Rogers, will be repeated tonight as well as Friday and Saturday of next week. Proceeds are divided between the CGIT group and the boys' club.

Progress Made In Water Talks

Brentwood water board negotiations to acquire the Elk lake water system to serve parts of north and Central Saanich, are "proceeding satisfactorily," the Daily Colonist learned last night.

Victor Howe, of the federal department of transport, met the Brentwood board Wednesday, showed members the pumping station at Elk lake, and is understood to have offered the system at a nominal rental.

However, Brentwood still must negotiate with Victoria, which owns the Elk lake water system, and has been paid a rental of $1,000 a year for it by the federal government for the benefit of Patricia bay installations.

WOULD BE BOON

There are 6,000 persons in Central and North Saanich to whom Elk lake water would be a boon, residents say.

Meanwhile, Central Saanich council has been urged to take the lead in setting up a committee to inquire as to cost and feasibility of a water system based on Elk lake supplies.

Coun. J. B. Windsor Tuesday asked council to name a committee for action.

But Reeve Rupert Brown asked that the matter be held in abeyance.

Then he broadly hinted that there were developments behind the scenes. "I cannot say more at the moment," he said.

Coun. Windsor agreed, saying "If other things are in the wind, we must wait."

But he urged urgent action in view of the fear of residents that department of transport's use of Stewart well would affect their private wells.

It is understood the department of transport would use Stewart well's supplies to provide for Patricia bay in place of Elk lake water.

Nanaimo Asks $500,000 Dock Addition

NANAIMO—A $580,000 addition to Nanaimo assembly wharf is being pressed through a top-level appeal to Ottawa as a result of Nanaimo's efforts at the recent Canadian Chamber of Commerce convention.

Chamber of Commerce president E. L. Hodson, a delegate to the convention, said the fact that the assembly wharf is used for export only resulted in the issue being referred to the foreign trade committee of the national chamber in Ottawa.

The foreign trade committee, said Mr. Hodson, has been supplied with briefs sent in 1951 and 1954 and a copy of support given by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island this year.

Mr. Hdson reported also that a Nanaimo resolution pressing for greater utilization of natural resources as a means of industrial development was referred to a special committee.

Mr. Hodson was reporting to the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce on his return from attending the 26th annual meeting of Canadian chambers.

NANAIMO—Unanimous rejection was given by Nanaimo town planning commission to an application of Mrs. Hattie E. Bradshaw to have the site of her home on Nicol and Finlayson rezoned from residential to commercial use.

The decision is in line with the provincial government stand that business premises be kept to a minimum to facilitate traffic on through highways.

The decision was the result of a joint recommendation of the residential and commercial committees of the commission.

The committee report stated that commercial zoning now in existence has not been fully utilized and the commission cannot see it's way to extending present facilities until it is.

The action follows a series of applications involving both north and south approaches to Nanaimo within the city on Departure Bay road and Nicol street.

The commission anticipates a growing volume of traffic on both these routes.

NANAIMO—Inclusion of penalty clauses in future school contracts will be considered by the Nanaimo district school board. Move is being contemplated because of delays which have held up the opening of the city's new $800,000 junior high school.

Cougar Threatens Pet

KYUQUOT—Harry Routhier, superintendent of Tahsis Logging Co. became alarmed Wednesday when a cougar approached his cocker spaniel which had accompanied him to Tahsish inlet where the company is logging.

Attempts were made to chase the big cat away but it was persistent in trying to make off with the pet.

A boat returned to the company's headquarters at Chamiss bay for firearms and a search of the immediate vicinity was made. It is not known whether the cougar was seen again.

Mules are renowned as nonconformists, and exception to the rule seems to be "Peppo," a Spanish mule who is one of the residents of the children's zoo in London. Now that the kids are back at school, "Peppo" has time on his hands, or hooves. So he improves the waiting time by helping the zoo hostess in any little chore he can do. East-West Road From Cowichan Asked by Chamber

DUNCAN—Another long desired communication system—a road connection with the west coast and Cowichan Valley—is being explored by the Cowichan Chamber of Commerce, in co-operation with Lake Cowichan and Gordon River Port Renfrew members.

Letters have been received from Highways Minister P. A. Gagiardi, and Lands and Forests Minister Robert E. Sommers, regarding the proposed route, and representations have been made from this end pointing out the desirability of the road from Port Renfrew finding its outlet through Lake Cowichan instead of through Shawnigan lake.

HALF WAY

There is a first-class highway now through Lake Cowichan to Gordon river, already half way across the Island, and the road through Lake Cowichan would be the lowest grade and the cheapest outlet for the south end of the Island.

In addition, it was pointed out at the chamber meeting, the Lake Cowichan area is already connected with roads from Port Alberni and Alberni. These roads, the meeting was told, are shown on latest government maps.

Mr. Sommers, in his letter, admitted the claims of the chamber for better roads, and said that "network of good roads was of vital concern to this (Social Credit) government."

PLANS BOGGED

Plans of the chamber for restoration of the Old Stone Church as a tourist attraction have bogged down through the refusal of the Indian department to rent or lease the reserve land on which the famous old church stands on Comiaken hill.

Frank Aldersey reported to a meeting of the chamber that the Indian council of the Cowichan Band was willing to permit restoration of the church, but Mr. Aldersey considered it would be impossible to secure grants or donations of funds if no security of access could be obtained. The matter will be shelved by the chamber for a year.

Impaired Charge Reviewed

Fine, Costs Returned As Appeal Granted

Special to the Colonist

COURTENAY — An appeal against an impaired driving conviction was upheld in county court here this week by Judge A. L. Hanna, who dismissed a lower court judgment against FO W. W. Laakso after hearing a transcript of police court evidence.

FO Laakso was fined $125 and $67.50 costs when he was found guilty of impaired driving by Magistrate A. J. Taylor.

The fine and costs were ordered returned to the RCAF officer by Judge Hanna, plus the $50 of security of appeal.

The charge resulted from a recent accident on Anderson road when FO Laakso drove his car into the ditch as he passed another car.

Evidence at the police court hearing showed the accused had consumed one bottle of beer at lunchtime, about 2 p.m., and part of a second bottle later in the afternoon. The accident occurred about 8.30 p.m. the same day.

The judge said that the accident might have occurred regardless of whether liquor was consumed and that it could have happen to the best of drivers.

He said also that there was not enough evidence given in police court to substantiate a conviction for impaired driving.

$651 Collected In CARS Drive

LADYSMITH — $651 was raised in the recent campaign for funds in aid of the Canadian Arthritic and Rheumatism Society conducted by Native Daughters of Dunsmuir Post No. 7 in Ladysmith.

Hospital auxiliary and Kinettes assisted with the drive.

Alberni Valley Watches Progress of Sports Centre

PORT ALBERNI — Being watched with interest here is the progress being made on a recreational and sports centre in an Alberni valley rural area.

Cherry Creek Community Association, registered last year under the Societies Act, has completed with volunteer labor construction to the sub-floor of a 100 by 40-foot hall. Association funds have now made it possible to hire labor to carry on construction with the object of having the hall ready for use within the next few months.

Grounds have been cleared and levelled by volunteers for a ballpark and childrens' playground. A fund has provided sports equipment.

Also sponsored by the community association is a welfare plan. Salvage sales have raised money which has been drawn on for relief of residents of the area who have been burned-out or been faced by hard luck.

J. H. Speedie, one of many veterans living on VLA small holdings in the district, is head of the association. Early this month a woman's circle was organized to help with community work. Mrs. R. Innes was elected first president.

A fee of 50 cents entitles an entire family to membership in the association and there are more than 100 families in the organization.

Activities include a weekly Saturday night bingo game, regular social evenings, and, during summer months, ball games.

The concrete basement built by the members will house a kitchen, washroom units and furnace room. The main floor of the building will have a dance floor and provide a home for the many community functions, which at present are held in the little one-room school or in rented quarters in the twin cities.

Besides social and welfare activities, the association is sparking the formation of a water district with the object of having a water system to supply the farms and small holdings which have been dependent on wells.

Saltair Water District Seeks Own Reservoir

LADYSMITH—Saltair water board is to explore the possibilities of creating a reservoir near the existing Ladysmith reservoir to find out whether it is feasible to go ahead with plans to obtain water to supply Saltair water district, through Ladysmith.

A delegation from the Saltair board which met city council Wednesday included chairman J. F. Rumble, F. A. Reed and secretary F. R. Duncanson.

Mr. Rumble said they would call upon surveyor member of the board, Thor Christenson, to go over the proposition with them.

Mr. Reed said the problem is to find a system which will pay for itself in 20 years and not cost more than $5 a month per household to obtain government approval of the plan.

Population of Saltair water district was estimated at 1,000. Ald. Tom Strang drew attention to the fact there is larger acreage per household in the district than in the city and questioned whether water would be used for irrigation of the land.

Mr. Rumble said it is not a farming community any more; he did not think consumption would be more than that of city users.

Canada had 20,000 citizens aged 90 and over in 1950, compared with 5,340 in 1921.

IT BEATS ME

Notre Dame is a magic name in football. Just how magic was shown last week when the new idea of piping closed-circuit television of Notre Dame games into hotel ballrooms was tried [illegible]

Results staggered even the most optimistic. The game was transmitted over an 11-city network into 11 hotels in the Sheraton chain. A total of 12,487 fans eagerly shelled out $4 each for the privilege of watching the Fighting Irish in what was expected to be their sternest test of the season, and thousands of would-be customers had to be turned away because there wasn't any more room.

The venture is a co-operative one by Notre Dame and the Sheraton hotels, who supply the accommodation. The university underwrites all expenses, which were $1.25 per mile per hour for the first hookup, covering more than 3,000 miles. Any profits will go to the Notre Dame Foundation for the Distinguished Faculty Program.

There should be some profits judging from the first show, a smash hit in more ways than one. In New York's Park Sheraton hotel, for instance, more than 550 crowded into the main ballroom and 200 fans were moved into an adjoining ballroom. And more than 1,500, some offering as high as $50 to get in, had to be turned down.

"The Park Sheraton show," reported the New York World-Telegram, "was a whooping four-star hit. Four bartenders supplied the thirsty, and a hilarious collegiate atmosphere prevailed as the Irish romped on the 20x15 screen. Judged by the uproar on various plays, Notre Dame rooters were much in predominance.

"There was no charge for the TV rooms. The hotel was satisfied with the beverage and sandwich receipts. Considering prices started at 26 cents for a coke, these must have been almost as staggering as the public response to the show itself."

It's amazing but there it is. While club owners and promoters are wondering what they can do to prop up sagging attendances, people are actually pulling strings for a chance to pay top prices to watch a game on television and spending freely while watching. The one big harm that television has done is that it has brought the best in entertainment within reach of everyone in the country and more and more sports fans are getting less and less tolerant of anything but the very best.

Fishing prospects for the weekend are good at Deep Cove. Holder's Boathouse reported yesterday that there was a good showing of cohoes with one party boating three of good size and losing two more. Early morning to just before noon appears to be about right and green-and-white and blue-and-white bucktails probably the best lures. . . . Further evidence of the growing popularity of Canadian football is seen in the recent publication of three books on the subject, all interesting and practically must reading for football addicts. Some idea of the growth of harness racing in the United States can be gleaned from this year's yearling sales at Lexington, Kentucky. Billy Didn't Have To Worry

Billy Reay, former coach of Victoria Cougars who is calling the shots for Seattle Americans in this WHL campaign, was a bit concerned before last night's game at Memorial Arena over the condition of another Cougar of last season, Eddie Dorohoy, who was clipped for six stitches in his scalp during a recent game. Reay had little cause for worry, however, for Eddie perked up when he got on the ice and turned in his usual peppery performance and collected two assists as the Americans nipped the Cougars, 3-2. Eddie's older brother, Ollie, at left, with New Westminster last season, chipped in with a goal and an assist.

Next games, tonight: Edmonton at Seattle; Regina at Calgary; New Westminster at Winnipeg, postponed.

Charlie Hodge, a young goalkeeping prospect who played 14 games with Montreal Canadiens last season, combined with some ex-Cougars at Memorial Arena last night to end the winning streak of the Victoria Western Hockey League entry after four games.

A crowd of 3,555, largest in three games this season, saw the four former Cougars playing with Seattle Americans figure in three first-period goals and Hodge make that 3-0 lead stand up with a brilliant, and often lucky, display in the Seattle nets.

It was the second straight victory for the Americans, coached by Billy Reay, who led the Cougars to second place last season. But Reay had many anxious moments before the final whistle sounded as the Cougars fought back to make up for some shoddy first-period play and missed forcing overtime only because the breaks went against them late in the game.

CHANCES MISSED

The game may well have been won in the early minutes as the alert Hodge had to move quickly on two shots by Don Chiupka and a sizzling blue-line blast by Floyd Hillman.

Cougars had their chances in the first five minutes but the tide quickly turned because of sloppy playing behind the Victoria blue line.

Ex-Cougar Alex Kuzma opened the scoring when he golfed in a pass-out from ex-Cougar Ed Dorohoy with Marcel Pelletier sprawled on the ice out of his goal after blocking Dorohoy's scoring attempt.

Hodge then came to the rescue again, getting his arm on a high drive by Mark Marquess and handling Doug Macauley's hard snap shot neatly.

STRUCK AGAIN

At 15.55, on a play which appeared offside, Americans struck again. A Cougar rush was stopped just outside the blue line and Ed Dorohoy and Kuzma collaborated in getting the puck to Ollie Dorohoy, who was in the clear.

Less than two minutes later, two other former Cougars teamed up for what proved to be the winning goal. Sam Lavitt took a shot from the blue line and Bart Bradley drove the puck home after Rudy Filion hady cleverly turned Lavitt's shot his way.

That ended the scoring for the Americans, who came close several times but found Pelletier right on the job. Meanwhile, the Cougars set about cutting into the lead.

BIT TOO MUCH

They found Hodge a bit too much. He made a good stop on Colin Kilburn when Filion was serving a penalty, robbed Doug Anderson and made two sparkling stops as rookie Paul Strasser had two chances within seconds. Going into the third period, Americans still had their three-goal margin.

Cougars got their chance early in the third when Guyle Fielder got five minutes for cutting Bill Dobbyn with a high stick and Ollie Dorohoy followed him to the penalty box five seconds later for slashing.

"Dorohoy missed only six seconds of ice time. That's how long it took the Cougars—Anderson from Macauley—to cash in on the two-man advantage. Dorohoy came back under the new league penalty ruling which permits a player sitting out a minor penalty to return to action if a goal is scored when his team has fewer players on the ice than the other team.

OLSON SCORES

Coach Eddie Olson scored at 8.45, saving Seattle defenceman Gordie Sinclair from getting a penalty. Referee Joey Johns had signalled a delayed penalty against Sinclair when Olson's shot flipped high and then trickled over the line. The goal meant Sinclair didn't have to serve his penalty.

There was still more than 11 minutes left but the Cougars couldn't get the puck past Hodge again although they pressed all the way except for the two minutes Dobbyn spent ensuing fight cost both players

Wayne Brown had the best chance when he broke in alone but Hodge got a piece of the pick with his pads, then caught it in the crook of his arm just before it went over the line. In the late minutes, the puck flew all around the Seattle goal and Hodge twice blocked shots, once while sitting down, that he never saw.

Late-game action was enlivened by a tussle between a couple of rookies, Seattle's Ross Watson and Hillman, which turned out to be a break for the Cougars. Hillman was whistled for interference at 17.38 and the Cougar cause seemed hopeless. But Watson wanted some revenge and the Cougars a chance to finish the game at equal strength with Americans.

Royals Win First; Flyers Edged, 5-4

Prairie teams found the going rough in the Western Hockey League last night with the New Westminster Royals chalking up their first win after five defeats, and Edmonton Flyers going down to an overtime setback at Vancouver.

The luckless Royals, who had lost four games by one goal this season, finally broke loose at Regina and handed the Regals their first defeat, 6-3, before only 1,000 fans.

Veteran forward Wiggy Wylie sent 4,124 Vancouver fans home happy when he drove in a partially screened shot at 5.54 of a sudden-death overtime period to give the Canucks a 5-4 triumph over the defending champion Flyers, who dropped their first game.

Gordy Fashoway led the New Westminster attack with two goals while Max McNab, Jim Zarie, Motto McLean and defenceman Bob Dawes each scored once. Dawes' goal came at 18.59 of the third period with Regina goalie Luciene Dechene pulled in favor of an extra attacker.

Regals, who trailed 3-1 after the first period and 4-3 at the end of the second, counted on goals by Norm Johnson, veteran centre Pat Lundy and rookie Gordie Stratton.

Dechene turned in a brilliant performance and his net wizardry kept the score from reaching double figures. The Regals, one of the three new clubs in the WHL this season, displayed little on attack in the ragged and dull contest.

Canucks, who broke a three-game losing streak and moved to within two points of the western division leaders, Victoria Cougars, missed two great chances in overtime before Wylie sunk the winner.

Outshooting the Flyers 32-14, the Canucks moved into a 3-0 lead in the first period, held a 4-2 edge after the second frame but let down in the third period when Flyers tied the count on goals by Ed Stankiewicz and Hugh Coflin.

Stankiewicz also scored two goals in the second period while Fred Brown, Phil Maloney, Bruce Carmichael and Ray Cyr tallied the other Vancouver goals.

Texas Takes On U.S. In Milk Bowl Classic

BY OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Such post-season football spectacles as the Rose, Sugar, Orange and Cotton bowls had better get on the ball or they're going to lose their standings to an extravaganza known as the Milk Bowl.

This is one late season event which is aptly named. It's between the finest peewee football teams of two nations—Texas and the United States.

Come Dec. 10 at San Antonio, Tex., the best team of youngsters between 10 and 15 years of age in the Lone Star state will play a team judged as the best in the other 47 states.

A POOR SECOND

It will be staged, this seventh annual Milk Bowl game, in the shadow of the Alamo. But on this one day at least, Davey Crockett will run a poor second to Davey O'Brien.

O'Brien, you'll recall, was a marksman in the true Crockett tradition when he rifled the ball for Texas Christian. And Davey, O'Brien that is, is one of the referees for this truly significant game along with such gridiron heroes as Kyle Rote, Doak Walker and others of their fabled ilk.

The kids do it up in big league style. They come from orphanages, boys' homes, YMCAs and such miniature moleskin outfits as the Pee Wee League, Pop Warner League and the Small Fry Football League sponsored in the Chicago area by Red Grange.

Texas decides on its champion and then, naturally, puts its pee-wees up against the best that the entire remainder of the country has to offer. The opponent is decided by invitation, a survey of applications and, after a check of performances, a trip to Alamo Stadium for the chosen eleven.

NOT THE CHAMPION

Don't tell anybody in Texas that I mentioned this, but as of the moment, Texas isn't the midget champion. They'll contend that they're not interested in being the best of such little things, but don't let 'em kid you.

Last fall, in the sixth annual Milk Bowl game, the Denver urchins rose up in wrathful precision and flattened Houston, champion of the longhorn state. At last reports, Houston reportedly was being deeded to Arkansas and it's no secret that the Alamo Heights Lions Club, this year's sponsor, is roaring for a Texas triumph.

But even if the visitors lose, everybody's going to be happy. The kids, who play 12-minute quarters and put on football that the Ivy League envies, receive trophies, certificates and milk spiked with cherry pop.

They've got another interest too.

The girls back home (10 to 14) aren't going to approve, but there is a Milk Bowl princess of the same age. And you should hear those little rascals whistle.

They can play football, too.

These kids play with an amazing perfection and, if those other bowls aren't careful, these cow juice cutups might razzle-dazzle them right out of business.

Annual School Galas Name House Champs

Victoria High School and Esquimalt High both held their inter-house swimming galas yesterday at the Crystal Garden with splashers battling for berths on their school's representative team that will compete in the inter-high gala Thursday night.

House III, paced by Bill Martin and Gloria Milliken, successfully defended its championship in the annual Victoria High meet last night, nosing out Houses I and II after a close battle that wasn't decided until the final event.

House III piled up 48 points while House I athletes garnered 43½ points. House II swimmers picked up 41½ points and would have finished second except for a disqualification in the girls' relay events. House IV trailed with 32 points.

Feature event of the night, the boys' open 100-yard freestyle, was won by Don Heywood, who pulled away from Terry Varcoe in the last lap after being pressed in the early stages.

House II won Esquimalt's first annual gala, which was held in the afternoon, by a 17-point margin over House I. Led by Helen Simenson and George Cuthbert, who both gained positions on Esquimalt's inter-high squad, the House II splashers piled up 79½ points to House I's 62½.

House IV wound up third with 59½ points and House III was fourth with 41 points.

Other good performances were turned in by Valeria Knowles, Malcolm Blyth, Ron McNeil, Ron Marshall, Noreen Simenson and Jim Matthews.

Fraser Leads House II To Victory in Road Race

Ian Fraser, one of Victoria High school's best long-distance running prospects in several years, led House II to an easy victory yesterday in the school's annual inter-house cross-country race.

Grabbing the lead at the start of the two-and-a-half-mile grind, the youthful Fraser was never headed and completed the road race in 12 minutes and 37 seconds—20 seconds ahead of runner-up John Gilliland.

Barry Hagen, also of House II, finished third in 13 minutes and 12 seconds to give the defending champion House II athletes a sweep of the top three positions.

The event served as a tune-up for Victoria High's first major competition of the season next Friday against Normal school. Fraser, who won several major cross-country competitions last season, will probably enter the event a strong favorite.

Other results:

4—Tony Aish (I); 5—Norm Hamilton (II); 6—Bill Williams (IV); 7—Lawrence Valiant (IV); 8—Dick Mungeley (III); 9—Peter Judd (II); 10—Russ Pearce (III); 11—Dave Heal (I); 12—Nester Halowski (II); 13—Ken Leung (III).

Clark Gets 11 Points As Athletics Triumph

ALBERNI—Alberni Athletics, Canadian senior "A" men's basketball champions, opened their 1955-56 season on an impressive note here Friday night by trimming Seattle Federal Old Line Insurance, 84-68, before a good crowd.

Led by hoidover forward Ron Bissett, who hooped 18 points, the Athletics trailed until late in the first half, when John Clark netted a field goal to put Alberni into a 31-30 lead. Clark, former Victoria great, was impressive in his debut with Alberni and picked up 11 points.

NEW PLAYERS

Coach Elmer Speidel stripped a line-up that included several new players and he used his newcomers freely. Dave Williamson and Don "Twitter" Hill, former Alberni players who attended school in Victoria last season, both saw action, while Ian Macdonald of Duncan was another newcomer.

Speidel added 15 points to the Alberni attack, while Jerb Weim topped the losers with 20 points.

Muggy Weather Best — Biggest 84 Pounds

Strong Arms Helpful in Conger Catching

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Nothing in Britain's wide variety of angling attractions—from perch to shark—appears to resemble conger catching.

That may account for its popularity round the coasts.

The big eels, which inhabit sunken wrecks and rocky deep-water spots, probably would yield best to a block and tackle. But British fishermen preserve the sporting element with flimsier gear.

There's a limit in that direction, however.

"Hold them boy, until your arms fall out," a veteran conger man advised a novice. "And if they break the tackle use stronger next time."

The trick in conger catching is to hold them once the strike is made. Given an inch, these giant eels streak for their holes. Once there, they become virtually impervious to all man-made pressure.

The record catch in the files of the Angler's News, a fisherman's periodical, is 84 pounds, with lesser ones of 59 and 40 pounds. But anything above 25 is considered "really big."

Anglers anxious to go after them are advised to scan the weather maps, take along plenty of strong line and heavy weights, and be prepared to hold their own in a tug-of-war.

The sea needs to be calm so that boats can be moored directly above wrecks, plentiful off Hastings, Sussex, by a steel cable. A swell would jerk the end off the boat.

DEEP DOWN

Congers go for the bait best in muggy weather. For a time, experts figured that they wouldn't touch anything but fresh fish. However, catches have been made with bait from the fishmonger.

Heavy weights are needed to get the line to the bottom, and keep it there in the current - swirled channel. Some conger anglers use junk steel to reduce their losses if that big one manages to get back to his hole and stay there.

The all-England conger hunt had to be called off this year after two unsuccessful attempts were foiled by bad weather in the channel.

Contestants showed up from as far away as the north of England.

Wests Meet JBAA Today

Two Victoria and District Football Association matches are scheduled today.

Southern Cal Beats Badgers

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Southern California's great halfback, Jon Arnett, matched his running ability against the passing of Wisconsin's Jim Haluska as he led the inspired Trojans to an upset 33-21 victory last night over the Badgers before 75,162 frenzied fans in Memorial coliseum.

Bouncing back with their best game of the season after last week's defeat by Washington, the underdog Trojans overturned a 7-6 halftime deficit to run up four touchdowns in the final half against two for the Badgers.

Strife-Torn Riders Tackle Tiger-Cats

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

With the prospect of rain or at least gooey going along the eastern football front today, the snide remark is prompted that there can be no more mud slinging in the Big Four clashes than the league has indulged in already this season in off-field squabbles.

The biggest gobs this week were thrown during a bitter family feud of Ottawa Rough Riders. The result has been firings, resignations, a wholesale levy of fines and a parade of replacements.

After the players are introduced to each other the Riders will trot out on the field to take on the formidable Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Hamilton. It looks as if the Riders will again be unhorsed.

The other half of the Big Four schedule brings together the once maligned, now much improved Toronto Argonauts and the top-place Montreal Alouettes at McGill Stadium in Montreal. Come rain and mud or even sunshine and wind, it promises to be a merry struggle highlighted by a passing duel between Sam Etcheverry of the Als and Tom Dublinski of the Argos.

MAJOR SHUFFLE

The week-long rumpus and wrangling in Ottawa brought something new almost every day, sometimes every hour. The Riders' miserable and lackadaisical showing in their last three games brought fines of $200 each on 20 players and a great upheaval.

The club officers fired quarterback Don Bailey, formerly of Penn State, and decided to go along with Marylander Jack Scarbath as No. 1 quarter. Tackle Don King, formerly of Cleveland Browns, was also fired; so was a Canadian end, John Welton.

More was to come. The club Friday "released" tackle Dick Barwegan and centre Roy Smith. Tackle Ted Daffer resigned.

Tom McHugh resigned as assistant coach, giving up the job he had taken over from fired John Idzik. The Rider brass, sticking all the while with coach Chan Caldwell, brought in as his assistant Choo Choo Roberts. Roberts, a former Rider and former Alouette, won the Big Four scoring championship in 1952.

SUMMON NEW IMPORTS

New imports were whistled in from all over. Preacher Don Moomaw, former All-American guard who also played with the Argos in 1953, was one of the first to answer the call. Ed Fouch, lineman recently released by the Argos and formerly with Los Angeles Rams, was summoned. So were Bob Peviani, former All-American tackle just out of the U. S. Army, and Pete Bello, a centre from Pasadena, Calif.

Against this array of newcomers, the Ti-Cats are standpatters. They're still smarting over the 16-15 licking they took last Saturday at the hands of the Argonauts. The Ti-Cats are only two points behind the Alouettes—and four ahead of the Argos—in the scramble for playoff places and are hoping the Argos upset the Als right in Montreal.

Lions Field 'Walking Wounded' Tonight In Bid To Retain WIFU Playoff Hopes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy of Edmonton Eskimos is leaving no chance for a last-minute change of heart.

The league-leaders' mentor announced this week he would not dress seven of his regular first-string players Saturday night for Eskimos' Western Interprovincial Football Union game at Regina against second-place Saskatchewan Roughriders.

He won't—he left them at home.

The unsung Eskimo heros, those who have sat on the bench while the regulars led Edmonton to a certain first-place finish by winning 12 of 13 starts, flew to Regina Friday to meet the Riders in one of two games in the WIFU this weekend.

Calgary Stampeders meet British Columbia Lions at Vancouver in the other, which will have a large bearing on who winds up in the league cellar.

For the first time since the 16-game WIFU schedule opened, there are no Monday games.

RESTED REGULARS PLAY

Among the Eskimo regulars who will see action against Riders are quarterback Jackie Parker, fullback Normie Kwong, end Rupe Andrews, guard Art Walker, who missed last Saturday's game because of injuries, and tackle Bob Dean, the club's placement kicker.

"The regulars we will play at Regina Saturday have nearly all been one-way performers this season, or else they have already been rested," said Ivy.

"Jackie Parker has been used only on offence this season. The same goes for Normie Kwong, who needs 71 yards to set a new conference individual one-season rushing record."

EASIER FOR RIDERS

Coach Frank Filchock of the Riders likes Ivy's idea.

"I hope Ivy isn't kidding," says Filchock. "We need the points to sew up second place. If Ivy isn't going to use the players he says, it should make it that much easier for us."

Riders have won seven of their 12 games for 14 points, two more than Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who have played 13 games and get a complete weekend rest this week.

At Vancouver, British Columbia Lions, who still have some hope of overtaking Winnipeg for the last playoff berth in the five-team circuit, will field their walking wounded in a last-ditch attempt.

As long as the men can walk and aren't recovering from injuries that could end in long-time disability, some of the infirmary cases will be taped, bandaged and thrown into line.

Fullback Al Pollard and tackle Arnie Weinmeister, two Lion mainstays, are expected to see action but quarterback Arnie Galiffa is a doubtful starter. Halfback Primo Villanueva is to take over quarterback duties against Stampeders with second-string quarter Ron Clinkscale an alternate.

STAMPS FAVORED

There has been no word of serious injury among Stampeders and after their last meeting, when Calgary whipped Lions 18-6, Stamps are favored. A Calgary victory would all but eliminate B. C. hopes for a playoff berth.

Lions have eight points on four wins in 13 starts and with victory in their last three games could still overtake Bombers under certain circumstances. A loss would leave them only a mathematical chance of a tie with Winnipeg, a position Stampeders already are in.

Stamps are two points behind Lions.

Have TELEPHONE WIRING CONCEALED in your home during construction

The Telephone Company will install concealed inside telephone wiring in your new home for the main telephone, plus wiring for any number of extension phones you may require. This is a free service.

Concealed telephone wiring must be placed in the early stages of construction. Modern building methods make it difficult to conceal phone wires once the walls of the house are covered.

For this reason, you should be sure to consult with your local telephone office while the home is still in the planning stage. The staff will be glad to arrange for free concealed telephone wiring . . . and they will also help you plan the other details of modern telephone service for your new home.

Message from the Minister

In Knowledge of God Lies Contentment

Another in a series of articles by Greater Victoria churchmen appearing weekly on The Daily Colonist church page.

REV. C. R. ALTON
Minister, Alliance Tabernacle

Of what does life consist?

By this question, we refer to that continual search going on in the hearts of men for that which will satisfy.

Ever since man chose to will outside the will of God, this endless quest has been in progress, and it shall continue to be in progress until man finds the answer to his problem.

Man's basic need is not better and more luxurious surroundings. Man had that once when he was in paradise, but man's basic need is spiritual, and he will never be eternally satisfied until he finds the solution to his spiritual problem.

Jesus said in Luke 12:15, "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of things which he possesseth," and yet how many there are who devote their entire energies to the accumulation of material possessions.

How true the words of the Christ, "Whosoever drinketh of this water (literal material water), shall thirst again," and so the man who makes his goal the accumulation of things will find himself disillusioned and disappointed.

We have not been left to grope on endlessly in darkness, seeking for light and finding none. Jesus distinctly declared, "This is life," and then went on to emphasize "That they might know Thee the only true God," and "Jesus Christ whom Thou hast sent."

True life then consists first in the knowledge of God, not a superficial knowledge about God but a genuine and intimate knowledge of God as our Father which is only possible through Jesus Christ, whom He hath sent.

The sin that separated man from God has been put away in the death of His Son, thereby making possible such knowledge and establishing a personal relationship whereby we are made members of the family of God.

"For as many as receive Him, to them He gives the right to become the children of God." This is life.

Industrials Drop Lower At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials drifted lower on the Toronto stock exchange Friday. The market moved listlessly throughout and there was no attempt by industrials to rally.

Mining issues began dully but both base metals and golds staged weak comebacks near the close and finished with fractional index gains. Western oils were a little easier but above their low of the day.

All industrial groups were lower with losses outnumbering gains by about four to one on average. Westons headed losers with a $7 dip to 122.

Best advances went to Royal Bank 1¾, International paper 1½ and Bank of Commerce a point.

Gunnar and Pronto among the uraniums and Kerr Addison and McIntyre in the golds improved fractionally.

Trading Quiet

MONTREAL (CP) — The stock market closed lower along a broad front Friday. Trading was quiet throughout the session.

A few issues showed mild recoveries from early declines towards the final bell but the vast majority were easier. The soft trend prevailed in all sections of the industrial list and was particularly no[illegible]. [illegible], as well as steels, table in the pulp and paper sector, carriers and senior oils drifted downward. Beverages moved [illegible].

In the mines declines were restricted to 15 cents or less. A few speculative issues showed gains of a few pennies.

Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market crawled through a slow session of rather narrowly mixed prices Friday.

On average the market was up, but there were more losers than gainers in the list and the pace of trading was the slowest since [illegible].

Railroads distinguished themselves with late strength that proved to be the best showing of any major group. Steels did well. The rest of the market was mixed to lower with individual gains being registered in motors, aircrafts and chemicals.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $165.70.

Canadian issues were lower. Hiram Walker fell ⅜, International Nickel slipped ⅝ and Dome Mines lost ⅛. Canadian Pacific and Distillers Seagram both remained unchanged.

On the American stock exchange Lake Shore and Giant Yellowknife both remained unchanged and Royalite Oil was up ⅛.

Market Steady

VANCOUVER — On a quiet market with prices steady, Western [illegible] made the largest sale moving 11,000 between 70 and 74. Quatsino Copper sold 10,500 at 24. Bethlehem Copper moved 2,600 at $1.[illegible]. Yukon Princess traded 1,000 at 70. Van Tor sold 1,000 at [illegible]. American Standard traded 7,000 at 12½. Jackson Basin moved 6,000 at 23. National Explorations sold 1,000 ranging from 79 to 82. Basco Oil sold 3,500 at $4[illegible]. B.C. Forest Products sold 700 at $17.75. Lucky Lager sold 200 at $5.50. Alberta Distillers, VT, traded 1,000 at $1.75.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG (CP) — Most trading was concentrated in flax on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

There was fairly aggressive export demand and moderate hedges were well taken. Prices were higher through most of the session but irregular at the close.

Banks Raise Prime Rate In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — All major New York City banks Friday boosted their prime rate from 3¼ to 3½ per cent effective immediately.

The prime rate is the charge on loans to the biggest borrowers with the best credit ratings. All other rates are scaled upward from the prime quotations.

The banks announcing the increase were Chase Manhattan Bank, First National City Bank, Chemical Corn Exchange Bank, Guaranty Trust Co., Irving Trust Co. and the Hanover Bank.

Slump Overrated Experts Maintain

NEW YORK (CP) — Wall street experts looking over recent market statistics agree that the figures give an exaggerated impression of what actually has happened to the market.

For example the industrial average fell more than 34 points from the close Sept. 23 to the [illegible] this week. That doesn't mean that the average loss for 30 blue chips was $34. The actual average loss is calculated as nearer $10, which market men say isn't anything to be sneezed at.

Then there is the matter of volume. The trades from Sept. 26 through Wednesday of this week totalled around 41,000,000 shares. That's about 1.1 per cent of the shares listed.

According to L. O. Hooper, analyst for W. E. Hutton & Co.: "This means that only 11 shares out of every 1,000 shares held by investors have changed hands more than once in the 13 trading sessions.

"It hardly is a panic when 11 out of 1,000 people get 'scared' and 989 do not. The fact that scarcity of 11 per cent of the stock has much an effect on prices, however, is a sad commentary on the thinness of the market."

BIG HOLE LEFT

The decline on Sept. 26 left a big hole in the charts. The hole is the difference between the lows on Sept. 23 and the highs on Sept. 26. This amounted to about 20 points in the industrials, seven points in the rails, two in the utilities and more than 16 in the 65 stocks making up these three averages.

According to the chart readers, a gap in a chart must be filled eventually. No one is guessing when this filling operation will be accomplished.

To fill the gaps on the basis of last night's closings, the industrial average would have to rise 8.53 points; rails, 14.29 points; utilities, 3.38 points, and 65 stocks, 13.40 points.

James F. Hughes, analyst for Auchincloss, Parker & Redpath, notes that if we were dealing with a normal run-of-the-mill type of stock market the technical probabilities would call for new highs in the industrial averages.

"Unfortunately," he adds, "the leading blue chip favorites were for the most part on two-year stilt formations that have been knocked for a little loop . . .

"On the basis of the record there is justification for concluding that it is difficult for high-flying favorites to recover from this kind of treatment."

Yacht Pool May Be Used For Skating

Skating may be the first activity in the model yacht pool nearing completion at Holland point.

Weather permitting, last of the concrete in the $17,500 pool is expected to be poured next week. Landscaping of the surrounding area will follow.

The pool is being built with capital city grant funds, and Ald. Arthur Dowell, a member of the capital city grant committee suggested yesterday that official opening of the pool might be delayed until the spring.

But Mayor Claude L. Harrison, also a member of the committee and chief proponent of the yacht pool, commented that "the kids won't want to wait for an official opening in the spring if we can have ice there."

Parks administrator W. H. Warren confirmed that as soon as frost cooperated it was his intention to drain the water in the pool to a depth of two inches and let it freeze for skating.

City May Lose

Parking Revenue Up —But So Are Costs

Meter parking commissions [illegible] about $ [illegible] a month, it was estimated yesterday.

But at the end of the year the [illegible] budget may even be suffering slightly from the effects of [illegible] parking meter operations.

In budgeting for the year's operation council looked forward to spending $10,000 on maintenance of meters and [illegible] of commissionaires and [illegible] purchase of the [illegible] new meters that have recently been installed.

[illegible] meters [illegible] are earning only a few cents [illegible] must be paid for at the rate [illegible] three-quarters of the daily take of the average meter in the city. The average meter recently has been taking in 27 cents a day.

Installation of the meters cost $[illegible], sales tax $2,500, the meter payments to the end of the year are likely to be around $7,500 and the cost of the commissionaires about $6,000—a total of $18,[illegible].

On the other hand the commissionaires probably will have boosted meter fee revenue by $[illegible] by the year-end, new meters may have added another $2,000 or $3,000 and the greatly increased number of parking meter fines may have yielded an extra $9,000—a total increase of $15,000 or $16,000.

Colonist Ad Answered

Honest Milkman Delivers $84

Diogenes hunted with a lamp by day for an honest man . . . and the classics do not disclose whether or not he found one.

Mrs. Eugene Dion put a "lost and found" advertisement in The Daily Colonist and found an honest man, her pocketbook and the $84 it contained, all in the space of a few hours.

Said Mrs. Dion: "I lost my wallet on Quebec street between 11 and 12 Thursday morning. So I put an ad in the Colonist."

And what do you know? asked Mrs. Dion. "A milk delivery man named Ted brought my wallet back with every dollar in it."

"Ted" is Maurice Dion who works for Shepherd's Dairy Ltd. and lives at 460 Superior.

Scott Assessed $40, Calls Court 'Corrupt'

Mayoralty candidate W. A. Scott, one-time lighthouse official in China, called the Oak Bay police court "corrupt" yesterday when he was convicted of assault.

But Magistrate Henry Hall who had passed judgment commented only: "I think this man is not responsible or I would not permit such language."

Scott shouted his charge of corruption on conviction of assault of electrical inspector Charles Waggett on Oct. 5.

The assault occurred during an altercation outside the basement door of Scott's property, 1052 Newport.

Fined $40, he suggested the fine be made $50.

Scott pleaded not guilty to a charge of installing electrical equipment without a permit. He was remanded until next Friday, while he claimed the charge was "more vicious prosecution" and a "frame up."

Mr. Waggett testified on the assault charge he went to Scott's property accompanied by deputy fire chief William Pearson to inspect wiring.

He found some installation [illegible] without a permit. He gave Scott permit forms and 24 hours in which to obtain the requirement, Mr. Waggett said.

[illegible] Scott denied he had been told to change the wiring and lost his temper, the inspector said.

"He called me a . . . liar."

REMINDED OF PERMIT

The inspector said he then reminded Scott of the permit, went out the door and "then blows were rained at me."

He suffered a swollen jaw and cut lip from two blows.

Heated exchanges developed between Scott and Deputy Chief Pearson as the official testified for about 10 minutes.

During the deputy's evidence Scott submitted two photographs of wiring in his basement and another purporting to illustrate positions of three persons during the altercation.

Scott admitted he had struck the inspector, but claimed he was hit first on his own property.

Scott, who appeared without counsel, questioned the deputy chief on past relations between himself and the department.

"I can say we have never had a lovely time when we've had to do business with you," the deputy retorted.

"I challenge that statement," Scott cried.

"This is a framed-up job to disgrace me before the whole of Victoria. I'm sorry to say you are an agent to it, so help me God."

DEPUTY TESTIFIES

The deputy testified he heard Scott say that Waggett had struck first but added that he could not see the incident.

The deputy disagreed with positions of three persons indicated in Scott's photograph and was told "your memory is lapsing again."

Deputy Chief Pearson said Scott moved up to Waggett's waving finger just before the altercation.

"He punched me on the chest," interjected Scott. "Then I walloped him," the accused illustrated with the slap of his hands.

Scott drew from the witness an admission that it was possible the inspector had said Scott was not fit to be mayor of Victoria.

Scott testified in his own behalf for about two minutes, relating that Waggett struck first and that the deputy fire chief could not see the incident.

As Magistrate Hall ruled that the assault and bodily harm were not disputed, Scott shouted that by all the [illegible] this court is corrupt.

"[illegible] $40," said Magistrate Hall.

As the magistrate walked from the courtroom Scott was [illegible]

Oak Bay Branch

Hall Suggested As Library Site

A branch of the Victoria Public Library might occupy the present Oak Bay Municipal Hall when a new hall is built, Clr. Patrick Birley suggested yesterday.

At a library board meeting Councillor Birley said he was a member of an Oak Bay committee studying the possibility of a new municipal hall.

"Speaking personally, if you do study the question of branch libraries, I hope you will take a look at our municipal hall," he said.

Prof. Robert Wallace suggested that the time had come when the board should appoint a committee to look into possible operation of branch libraries in Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt.

James Neevy, board chairman, said it had been the idea of the board that as [illegible] grew the library would have branches. But [illegible] a time before going ahead with a study.

[illegible] number of books borrowed by Oak Bay residents for the first nine months of [illegible] was 45,317, compared with 49,457 last year.

The other member municipalities all showed increases. Victoria circulation shot up from 183,217 to 20[illegible],769, and Saanich from 74,365 to 88,[illegible]. Central Saanich circulation was up from 7,656 to 11,314, and Esquimalt from 14,259 to 14,-796.

Proposed New Ferry May Be Only Link

The $3,000,000 ferry proposed by Black Ball Transport Company may be the only United States vessel carrying passengers and cars between Victoria and Port Angeles next summer.

After company officials said yesterday that plans for the ferry are meeting financial delays, Washington State Ferries announced it has no plans to return MV Kalakala to the run in 1956.

P. J. Acheson, president of Black Ball Transport, who said recently he was 98 per cent confident the ferry would be in service next June, disclosed he was waiting to hear from its finance committee and would make an announcement in about 30 days.

C. E. Blaney, WSF representative here, said: "Mr. Acheson has announced he will put a new ferry in service for 1956.

"We have no plans and have made no arrangements to enter into the service next year."

CPR has indicated it will provide two daily round trips between the two port cities as it did last summer. Black Ball company, which withdrew MV Chinook from the run earlier this year, is not expected to re-enter the service next year.

Mystery Donor Chutes 200 Books Into Appreciative Public Library

They couldn't solve it but they did the next best thing. They unanimously expressed their appreciation of the generosity of the man or woman who, librarian John Lort said, had contributed nearly 200 books to the library in the last few months by sliding them down the book-return chute at night.

The donor may have given the library board members one clue to his identity, but they didn't have a mythologist among them to follow it up.

In each book he has enclosed a card bearing on one side a print of a god-like figure standing in space between the earth's surface and a new moon, with a couple of meteorites and a scattering of stars enlivening the scene.

On the other side of each card is the message typed in red: "Gentlemen: This book is a gift to the library from a citizen of Victoria who prefers to withhold his name. Sincerely."

Value of one of the books is about $30, Mr. Lort said, and many others are fairly rare. The librarian said he had formed the opinion that the collector of the books was interested in illustration.

Board members were told confidentially the name of the donor of another gift, a richly bound large volume on the history of aeronautics up to 1830. Mr. Lort placed the value of the book at "possibly $400."

Canada Represented at UN By Silver-Haired Grandmother

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—A silver-haired grandmother who lives on a farm near Brampton, Ont., is the only woman on Canada's delegation at the United Nations General Assembly.

Mrs. Jack Houck, president of the Ontario Women's Liberal As[illegible] humanitarian and cultural matters.

"We help women and children," explained the motherly Mrs. Houck, whose previous public services included membership on the Ontario Hope education commission.

WORKS FOR PEACE

"Our committee also helps raise standards of living. I believe that in the end that sort of work will do more for peace than all the politics that can be brought to bear."

Mrs. Houck is the mother of five children and the grandmother of eight. She and her husband, who [illegible] both were born in the United States. They met while students at Cornell University and moved to a farm near Niagara Falls, Ont., soon after their marriage in 19[illegible].

They went to Brampton about [illegible] when Houck was named chairman of the Ontario milk control board in 19[illegible]. After [illegible] years in Brampton they settled on a farm about [illegible].

While in New York Mrs. Houck keeps in touch with her family by letter and telephone. Her husband [illegible] every Saturday night.

"We take over the week's happenings," she said in an interview at the UN building.

"I have also begun to write a weekly [illegible] a sort of running [illegible] activities in the UN. I have six copies made and send one to each of the children and my husband."

She also writes a UN column for [illegible] weekly newspapers in her county, two in Brampton, one in [illegible] and one in Streets[ville].

Since arriving in New York some three weeks ago she has limited her outside activities to visiting a few stores. "I'm not a great shopper" and going to one movie.

"I have been pretty well absorbed in the UN work," she explained, "partly because I feel that being a newcomer I should learn all that I can as fast as I can."

"Besides, woman delegates have a full schedule of social affairs. I have attended three or four luncheons and perhaps half a dozen receptions. I'm strictly a ginger ale person. I'm beginning to feel quite at home and know a lot of people."

WOMEN HANDICAPPED

Mrs. Houck, daughter of a Methodist minister and active in politics for 25 years, says women are coming into their own in public affairs.

"The prejudice against them has largely disappeared," she remarked. "But they are still up against some handicaps. A woman is 40 to 45 before the children are old enough to be left alone. Unless she has unusual energy and [illegible] the [illegible] outside and [illegible] community service that [illegible] essential to political success."

Many women think that because they have been leaders in women's clubs they are entitled to [illegible] consideration when they [illegible].

Mrs. Houck was a candidate in [illegible] she lost [illegible] polled [illegible] more votes than any [illegible] Liberal candidate in the riding.

She'll be in New York until the UN General Assembly adjourns in December. Then what? "I think my husband would be quite happy if I stayed at home for a few months and just kept house."

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?

Made of dry 1½" Stock in 8, 10 and 12-inch widths, "FOREST" Siding is a new type of Siding obtained from specially selected Cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc.

HOW IS IT GRADED?

IN A SELECT GRADE for home and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound intergrown knots ranging in size from 2-inch in 6-inch widths to 4-inch in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of this grade.

IN A UTILITY GRADE intended for use on summer homes, barns, or industrial buildings where lowest cost construction is required with pleasing rustic appearance. Each grade comes in two finishes, rough faced or smooth faced. The rough face has a sawn finish and smooth face is planed.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?

"FOREST" Siding, with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume adds to the structural strength and solidity of the building.

The design of "FOREST" Siding ensures a tight weather seal of the lap which, together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle, makes excellent material from the insulation standpoint.

"FOREST" Siding represents an economy to home-builders. Costing less than most other types of Siding the lap design ensures easy fitting and speedy application at less labor cost.

HOW IS IT APPLIED?

As easily and quickly as common shiplap. Each piece of "FOREST" Siding fits snugly on the one below and requires only one mitre cut.

HOW CAN IT BE FINISHED?

If a natural finish is desired, use equal proportions of raw linseed oil and any well-known brand of waterproof sealer. This not only protects the wood surface, but also brings out the natural beauty of the knots and grain. If a colored finish is desired "FOREST" Siding can easily be painted.

TV Talk

There is good news for owners of television sets which have been in operation for several years. Prices of picture tubes have been reduced again. Replacing the big tube is no longer the expensive business it once was.

Most 17-inch picture tubes now cost about $35, a substantial reduction from the $55 price tag two years ago. Twenty-one-inch models sell for about $51.

Owners of older-model sets can now have added brightness and contrast when the time comes to replace their worn-out picture tube by having an aluminized tube installed in place of the conventional one.

The aluminized ones sell at almost the same prices as the regular ones, according to the new tube price lists.

"That was 'Howdy Doody Time'."

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM — Tomorrow's sensational "Wide Wide World" NBC-TV cross-country tour by television depends, in part, on 15 mule teams. The long-eared animals were used to transport men and cameras into the Grand Canyon to show views of the mile-deep gorge.

These unusual shots make up only one of the outstanding features to be seen on the 90-minute educational feature, which promises a lot of entertainment, too, slated for channel 4, Sunday at 12 noon.

* * *

HISTORIC PICTURE Feature picture on channel 12 this afternoon is one which the children should see. It is "The Lady With the Lamp," the story of Florence Nightingale starring Anna Neagle.

FEATURE MOVIE The Film Festival movie on channel 5 at 7.30 tonight is an excellent one, "Sleeping Car to Trieste," highly recommended for Saturday night viewing. It stars Jean Kent and a cast of top European actors.

WESTERN HOCKEY The Edmonton Flyers and the Seattle Americans will be seen in action on KTVW at 8.

VARIETY HOUR Perry Como's Saturday night show on channel 4 is rapidly becoming a favorite with local viewers. Peggy Lee is a guest tonight.

THE HONEYMOONERS Jackie Gleason holds forth on both channels 2 and 4, at 8.30.

MUSICAL SHOW Lawrence Welk, his champagne music and top entertainers bring their fine show to channel 5 at 9.

RELAXED COMEDY George Gobel—this time, maybe without his "mother," makes with the jokes on channel 4 at 10. George Brent will be around, too.

FRENCH STORY Merle Oberon stars in "Pardon My French," a story filmed in France, on channel 12 at 10.30.

ADVENTURE TALE Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is seen in "Black Pirate," the channel 11 feature film at 11.

TENSE DRAMA The channel 4 presentation at 11.05 is "Great Expectations," with Alec Guinness and Jean Simmons, the story of a poor man who becomes suddenly rich.

RCAF Polio Victims Flown to Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two RCAF polio victims, flown to Vancouver from Germany in a U.S. hospital plane Thursday, are in "fairly good" condition in Vancouver General hospital.

They were stricken with polio at the Weisbrucken RCAF air station in Germany.

The victims are Mrs. C. L. Hackett, wife of FO Hackett, whose parents live in Vancouver, and LAC J. J. Rogers of Kelowna.

A U.S. C-131 medical plane left Germany with the patients Wednesday morning and arrived here early Thursday night. Hospital authorities said the trip was made comfortably.

Rolls Royce in Field

B.C. Firm Adopts English Engines

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rolls-Royce, whose fame is split between fine cars and aircraft engines has broken into a new field — one previously completely dominated by the United States.

The company will supply engines for the heavy-duty logging trucks used by MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., of B. C.

Hayes Manufacturing Co. Ltd., builders of the huge yellow trucks used in MacMillan and Bloedel operations, said at a press conference eight of the 200 horsepower engines will be fitted into Hayes trucks.

Purchase follows strenuous tests conducted over a period of months, which proved the British engines far superior to other products, Hayes said.

"In comparison with other logging-truck motors, the Rolls-Royce used less fuel and lubricants and cost less for maintenance," Hayes said.

Cost of the eight engines will be about $35,000. Bill Gibson of Montreal, a Rolls-Royce representative, said:

"But we hope this is only a first step. We can meet any acceptable competition. Ours is, of course, not a cheap product, and we don't intend to start putting one out."

Troller Burns

Friends Start Fund To Help Fisherman

KYUQUOT Fishermen have started a collection here to help Douglas Henderson, whose 34-foot troller Jamie was destroyed by fire Tuesday.

The fire is believed to have started from an oil stove on the boat.

Mr. Henderson tried to save the craft from the flames by using carbon dioxide extinguishers and trying to sink her, but to no avail.

The boat was finally blown ashore in Kyuquot harbor, where she burned to the waterline.

The Jamie is well known to west coast fishermen both by her present name and her original name of Maybe, which was changed two years ago when the department of transport objected that the name was being mistaken for "mayday," a distress signal.

Mr. Henderson has been employed by the fisheries department since mid-September and the Jamie has been chartered to the department. It is understood he will continue his job using another boat.

Six pews were also dedicated at the service, which was taken by Ven. Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, asssted by Rev. C. S. Coldwell.

Club Theft Admitted

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Frank Joseph Foster, former secretary-treasurer of the Nanaimo Minor Hockey Association, yesterday pleaded guilty in police court here to theft of $75 from the association.

He was remanded until Monday for sentence.

The theft occurred last December when Foster was still connected with the association.

Vote Offers Three Choices

Two Saanich councillors favor a three-question referendum in the December municipal elections to offer voters a choice between construction of a new municipal hall or enlarging the present Royal Oak buildings.

Opposition to construction of a new $500,000 hall has been voiced by Councillors Leslie Passmore and S. W. Brock, both seeking re-election in December.

They said the proposed structure was "unrealistic" because of the cost involved.

Week-End Rendezvous Rocks World

Margaret, Peter Reunited Where Love First Came

Armed Police Guard Estate

WINDSOR, England (UP)—Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend retraced today the paths where they first fell in love, and some Britons accepted the fact of their week-end rendezvous as the next best thing to a formal engagement.

Squads of police armed with jogs and walkie-talkie radios mounted guard around the country estate in the wooded hills near Windsor Castle to shield the couple's secrets from an anxious and prying world while a powerful segment of the British press rose to their defence.

The world, rocked first by Townsend's visit to the princess at Clarence House in the presence of the Queen Mother, was rocked again today by the Windsor tryst, even though an icy statement from Clarence House seemingly denied the signs of an early engagement.

It said "no announcement concerning Princess Margaret's future is at present contemplated."

OCT. 25 KEY DATE

It was belived a formal announcement—if one is forthcoming—would have to await the meeting of Parliament Oct. 25.

The RAF group captain and the princess went separately to their week-end rendezvous, Townsend in his green French sports car, the princess in a black sedan whose speed along back country roads belies its sedateness.

The rendezvous was at the home of Mrs. John Wills, on the border of Windsor Great park where Townsend courted Margaret two years ago on hikes and horseback.

EFFECT NULLIFIED

If Margaret expected the brief and tart announcement from Clarence House to discourage the expectation of a forthcoming marriage, she nullified it by her flight to the country to be at Townsend's side.

Her sudden sweep to Windsor for a house party at this crucial juncture was sure to shock the sensibilities of British bluenoses worse than any single incident since King Edward VIII's open courtship of the divorcee, Wallis Simpson.

What loneliness and anxiety burdened Queen Mother Elizabeth were not known as she waited alone in Clarence House for the week-end events to unfold.

UNEXPECTED SUPPORT

Unexpected support came today from The Manchester Guardian, one of the most influential newspapers in Britain. It said the couple should be allowed to marry even if by "remote chance" Townsend should one day sit beside the throne, as consort to a British queen.

Speaking of the Royal Marriage Act of 1772 which requires the Queen's permission to wed before the age of 25 and the

Unknown Civilizations

Scientists Find Ancient Ghosts In Far North

OTTAWA (BUP)—Traces of probably the oldest known civilization in the Canadian north were uncovered this summer in the Yukon just 20 miles from the Arctic Ocean, Northern Affairs Minister Jean Lesage disclosed yesterday.

The find, which produced tools and implements of four civilizations hitherto unknown in the Canadian north, was made by a party headed by Dr. Richard S. MacNeish, chief archaeologist with the National Museum of Canada.

The party spent two months digging during the summer and was constantly beset with driving winds, fogs and snowstorms. The party's camp was flattened on three occasions.

NINE CIVILIZATIONS

Traces of nine northern civilizations were uncovered in the Yukon find, all in an area about 600 by 1,200 feet, on the banks of the Firth river. Of the four hitherto unknown, one "may well be the oldest so far discovered anywhere on the northern part of this continent," Lesage said.

"Many of the 8,000 artifacts found at the site this summer are identical in design and concept to others which have been unearthed in eastern Siberia and other parts of eastern Asia," Lesage said. "They would seem to give further substantial evidence that there was a considerable influx of people and ideas from eastern Asia to this continent, via the Bering straits."

STOPPING POINT

MacNeish said yesterday it was obvious that the area had been a "sort of grand central station of the north where everybody stopped." "We uncovered hundreds of implements made of bone and stone —scrapers, arrowheads and flakers," he said.

"We also unearthed a considerable quantity of pottery, some of which may be connected with Siberian archaeological cultures 3,000 to 5,000 years old.

"However," he added, "our most interesting discovery was made in the permafrost. We had found a number of implements belonging to the oldest civilization known to have existed in northern North America. Then, under a layer of clay, several inches below these artifacts, we found 10 exceedingly crude stone implements, obviously from an even earlier civilization."

No complete skeletons were found this summer. MacNeish, however, is hopeful that future work will uncover some.

He will head another party to the site next summer.

Peter's Mother Speaks

STOGUMBER, England (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Townsend, a frail grey-haired widow, waited with the rest of the world Friday night to know if her son has won the hand of a princess.

For the 65-year-old mother of RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend it was no royal problem or affair of state, but just a question of her son's happiness.

"I have been so terribly worried about him," she told reporters.

"He's had years of unhappiness. All I long for is to see him happily married again, as my other children are."

Leaning over the garden gate outside her honey-colored cottage in this sleepy Somerset village, Mrs. Townsend spoke gently to reporters who asked if she would be meeting Princess Margaret soon.

"I haven't made any plans yet," she said. "I haven't bought a new frock or anything. I haven't even had my hair permed."

Of the Princess, she said:

"She is a very courageous woman who has had a lot to contend with. It is wonderful the way she has stood up to things and stuck it out."

Seriously Ill

DAVID BEN-GURION

Israeli defence minister and prime minister-designate David Ben-Gurion is seriously ill, it was disclosed Friday. An official communique said he had passed a good night. It did not mention the nature of the illness, but it was believed Ben-Gurion had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage.

Tass Man Banned By RCAF

OTTAWA (CP) — Vladimir Vashedchenko, correspondent here for the Russian news agency Tass, has been barred from barrier trials of the CF-100 all-weather jet interceptor plane at Uplands Airport the week of Oct. 31.

An air force spokesman said barring him has no connection with a Tass report which appeared in Moscow during External Affairs Minister Pearson's visit there this week.

That report quoted Air Commodore Fred Carpenter of the RCAF as saying that the RCAF air division in Europe is poised for attack on Russia. Carpenter and the defence department denied he had made any such statement.

An invitation to the Parliamentary Press Gallery to attend the CF-100 trials specifically stated that the Tass correspondent was excluded. The invitation came from FO Trevor Collins, RCAF public relations officer.

The CF-100 trials involve deliberately crashing a twin-engine jet into a barrier to test the accident prevention device.

Ottawa in the Dark

Canada, Britain, U.S. To Swap Most Secret A-Information

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defence department said Friday that agreements have been signed making possible the exchange of secret atomic information among the United States, Britain and Canada.

There was speculation that information on nuclear engines for submarines and surface ships was involved in the pacts.

In answer to questions, a department spokesman said the second of two agreements, covering the Atomic Energy Commission's part in the information swap, was signed last month. An agreement relating to the defence department's part was completed in July.

The agreements were made possible by amendments last year to the Atomic Energy Act, relaxing some of the original sharp restrictions on exchange of any type of secret information, even with allied countries.

The spokesman said he could not comment on details of the agreement.

In Ottawa, officials of the defence and external affairs departments said they are unaware of any new agreement under which the U.S. will provide Canada with nuclear information of a military nature. They also said they know of no U.S. plans to make such information available.

Canada and the United States last June signed an agreement providing for a wider exchange of information for development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. Under the agreement the U.S. is prohibited from giving Canada nuclear information of a military character.

Richard III's Man

ROBERT MONTGOMERY

Americans Off to War To Clear King's Name

NEW YORK (NANA)—After a 470-year interval, a group of distinguished Americans have banded together to clear the name of Richard Plantagenet.

Plantagenet, son of King Richard II of England, himself reigned as King Richard III from 1483 to August 22, 1485. On that day he was killed in the battle of Bosworth. Ever since, history has painted him as an evil-eyed, hunchbacked monster who murdered his way to the throne.

But all this is nonsense, according to the friends of Richard III, Inc.

An organization of theatrical and professional people, the friends believe that it's high time Richard III got a fair shake. The organization aimed at cleansing the king's memory includes as members, Helen Hayes, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Robert Montgomery and James Thurber.

They maintain that the reputation of King Richard III as lecherous, ambitious and bloodthirsty is a calumny. They think it was purposely begun by Richard's enemies in order to defame him and has since survived because later writers—including Shakespeare — were willing to repeat the untruths rather than study the full evidence.

For example, the 1955 edition of one encyclopedia declares "there is little doubt" that Richard murdered two young nephews, heirs to the throne, in the Tower of London. Friends of Richard III contend that "it has not been proven that the boys were murdered at all," much less by their mistreated uncle.

Richard must be spinning in his grave at all the scandal spread about him in later years, says the friends of Richard III. Their purpose is to perpetuate his memory and "to see that misrepresentations are no longer perpetuated in text books and histories."

Whooper Lovers Win Concession

WASHINGTON (UP) — Defenders of the great white whooping cranes handed the powerful Strategic Air Command a resounding defeat Friday.

The air force announced it was abandoning plans to expand the danger zone around a flash bombing range off the southeast coast of Texas where the rare birds spend their winters.

The decision ended a prolonged controversy which saw the air force pitted against the Canadian government, bird societies and even "the U.S. fish and wildlife service.

The air force announcement made no direct mention of the whooping cranes, saying only that there had been a conflict of interest "between military requirements and private interests."

But that was its way of saying the crane lovers had won. There are only 26 of the great birds left and this country and Canada are doing their utmost to keep them from going the way of the now-extinct passenger pigeon. Canada had sent a formal note to Washington calling attention to the danger to the rare birds.

The strategic air command operates the Matagorda bombing and gunnery range off the Texas gulf coats near a national wildlife refuge where the whooping cranes winter.

Early last summer, SAC proposed extending the "surface danger zone" of the range, contending the cranes would not be affected any more than they are now.

Two Men Lost

An intensive search was launched by RCMP yesterday afternoon for two men believed missing in 60-mile-long Knight inlet on the mainland.

The men were reported overdue in their boat by the forestry service at Alert Bay.

Alert Bay RCMP said last night: "We don't have the names of the men. We believe they are forestry workers."

Blackjack in the Office

Raging Over Lunch, Mom Clubs Principal

WEIR, Miss. (AP)—A blackjack wielding mother, irate over school hour regulations, attacked the school superintendent and principal, sheriff Boyce Erwin said Friday.

Sheriff Erwin said Mrs. Jess Adams was angry about a school regulation that students eat at the school cafeteria or bring their lunch.

She went to the office of superintendent C. H. Henderson during school hours, locked the door and attacked Henderson with the blackjack, Erwin said.

When principal R. H. McDowell rushed to the office, she unlocked the door and hit him in the face with the blackjack when he entered.

Mrs. Adams filed counter-charges of assault and battery with intent to kill against Henderson and McDowell. The Oct. 22 hearing will include these charges.

Seattle's Luxury Homes Get Yawns from Russians

SEATTLE (UP) — An 11-man troupe of Russian housing experts took a gander at some $25,000 homes here Friday and bluntly told their hosts they weren't impressed.

Harold L. Larsen, regional vice-president of the National Association of Home Builders, pointed out the homes as the delegation was motoring by bus to Everett, 30 miles north of here.

"We are now passing some homes that cost from $25,000 upward," he said.

The interpreter translated. A Russian voice spoke unconcernedly. "They don't care," said the translator.

The visitors appeared awed by the roadside motels. They indicated they thought them very small housing units for the underprivileged.

A Russian volunteered, through the interpreter:

"The Russians cannot be held responsible for this."

Burning-Eyed Billy Graham — $100,000 Target Exceeded

At Mid-Crusade, 4,555 Make 'Decision for Christ'

TORONTO (CP)—They came in cars, buses and trains. They came from little ports on the Great Lakes, Ontario manufacturing towns and even from Detroit and Montreal.

In thousands they sat on benches in the waterfront Toronto Coliseum. They sang hymns, prayed, laughed, and listened silently as the intense young man with burning eyes beseeched them to remake their lives.

In hundreds they went forward to make "decisions for Christ."

Midway in the last week of Billy Graham's month-long Toronto crusade, 4,555 had walked to the platform at the handsome evangelist's call.

At two special services, 682 young people and 630 children more than 11 years old had also come forward.

With three days left to go, some 350,000 persons had attended the services. Officials expected the final total to exceed 400,000.

"This crusade has developed into one of the greatest that we have ever conducted," Dr. Graham said. "There is evidence everywhere of the same driving spirit that we felt in Great Britain."

Financially, the crusade was equally successful. With three days to go, the $100,000 financial target had been exceeded by $15,000. Dr. Graham said the extra money would be used to help cover a later campaign in India and the Far East.

He said he is especially delighted at the support from Toronto clergymen. An average of 600 attended each Friday morning's "workshop on evangelism."

Each night from 25 to 30 separate delegations — from points in Ontario, Quebec, northern New York and neighboring Michigan—travelled to hear him. Three times his service was piped by special wire to audiences in the Ontario cities of Kingston, Stratford, Owen Sound and London.

In Ottawa one night he spoke to 25,000.

In what little spare time he had—not enough for a round of golf, his favorite game — he worked on the manuscript of a forthcoming book and on drafts of articles.

Unknown Civilizations

Scientists Find Ancient Ghosts In Far North

OTTAWA (BUP)—Traces of probably the oldest known civilization in the Canadian north were uncovered this summer in the Yukon just 20 miles from the Arctic Ocean, Northern Affairs Minister Jean Lesage disclosed yesterday.

The find, which produced tools and implements of four civilizations hitherto unknown in the Canadian north, was made by a party headed by Dr. Richard S. MacNeish, chief archaeologist with the National Museum of Canada.

The party spent two months digging during the summer and was constantly beset with driving winds, fogs and snowstorms. The party's camp was flattened on three occasions.

NINE CIVILIZATIONS

Traces of nine northern civilizations were uncovered in the Yukon find, all in an area about 600 by 1,200 feet, on the banks of the Firth river. Of the four hitherto unknown, one "may well be the oldest so far discovered anywhere on the northern part of this continent," Lesage said.

"Many of the 8,000 artifacts found at the site this summer are identical in design and concept to others which have been unearthed in eastern Siberia and other parts of eastern Asia," Lesage said. "They would seem to give further substantial evidence that there was a considerable influx of people and ideas from eastern Asia to this continent, via the Bering straits."

STOPPING POINT

MacNeish said yesterday it was obvious that the area had been a "sort of grand central station of the north where everybody stopped." "We uncovered hundreds of implements made of bone and stone —scrapers, arrowheads and flakers," he said.

"We also unearthed a considerable quantity of pottery, some of which may be connected with Siberian archaeological cultures 3,000 to 5,000 years old.

"However," he added, "our most interesting discovery was made in the permafrost. We had found a number of implements belonging to the oldest civilization known to have existed in northern North America. Then, under a layer of clay, several inches below these artifacts, we found 10 exceedingly crude stone implements, obviously from an even earlier civilization."

No complete skeletons were found this summer. MacNeish, however, is hopeful that future work will uncover some.

He will head another party to the site next summer.

Tass Man Banned By RCAF

OTTAWA (CP) — Vladimir Yashedchenko, correspondent here for the Russian news agency Tass, has been barred from barrier trials of the CF-100 all-weather jet interceptor plane at Uplands Airport the week of Oct. 31.

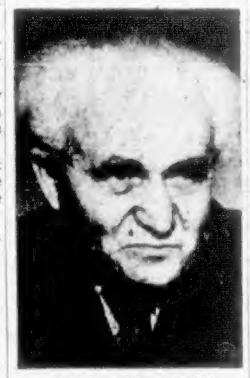
An air force spokesman said barring him has no connection with a Tass report which appeared in Moscow during External Affairs Minister Pearson's visit there this week.

That report quoted Air Commodore Fred Carpenter of the RCAF as saying that the RCAF air division in Europe is poised for attack on Russia. Carpenter and the defence department denied he had made any such statement.

An invitation to the Parliamentary Press Gallery to attend the CF-100 trials specifically stated that the Tass correspondent was excluded. The invitation came from FO Trevor Collins, RCAF public relations officer.

The CF-100 trials involve deliberately crashing a twin-engine jet into a barrier to test the accident prevention device.

Seriously Ill



DAVID BEN-GURION

Israeli defence minister and prime minister-designate David Ben-Gurion is seriously ill, it was disclosed Friday. An official communique said he had passed a good night. It did not mention the nature of the illness, but it was believed Ben-Gurion had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage.

Week-End Rhapsody

Princess and Townsend Reunited at Windsor

WINDSOR, England (UP)—Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend retraced today the paths where they first fell in love, and some Britons accepted the fact of their week-end rendezvous as the next best thing to a formal engagement.

Squads of police armed with dogs and walkie-talkie radios mounted guard around the country estate in the wooded hills near Windsor Castle to shield the couple's secrets from an anxious and prying world while a powerful segment of the British press rose to their defence.

The world, rocked first by Townsend's visit to the princess at Clarence House in the presence of the Queen Mother, was rocked again today by the Windsor tryst, even though an icy statement from Clarence House seemingly denied the signs of an early engagement.

It said "no announcement concerning Princess Margaret's future is at present contemplated."

OCT. 25 KEY DATE

It was believed a formal announcement—if one is forthcoming—would have to await the meeting of Parliament Oct. 25.

The RAF group captain and the princess went separately to their week-end rendezvous, Townsend in his green French sports car, the princess in a black sedan whose speed along back country roads belies its sedateness.

The rendezvous was at the home of Mrs. John Wills, on the border of Windsor Great park where Townsend courted Margaret two years ago on hikes and horseback.

EFFECT NULLIFIED

If Margaret expected the brief and tart announcement from Clarence House to discourage the expectation of a forthcoming marriage, she nullified it by her flight to the country to be at Townsend's side.

Her sudden sweep to Windsor for a house party at this crucial juncture was sure to shock the sensibilities of British bluenoses worse than any single incident since King Edward VIII's open courtship of the divorcee, Wallis Simpson.

What loneliness and anxiety burdened Queen Mother Elizabeth were not known as she waited alone in Clarence House for the week-end events to unfold.

Unexpected support came today from The Manchester Guardian, one of the most influential newspapers in Britain. It said the couple should be allowed to marry even if by "remote chance" Townsend should one day sit beside the throne, as consort to a British queen.

Speaking of the Royal Marriage Act of 1772 which requires the Queen's permission to wed before the age of 25 and the

Peter's Mother Speaks

STOGUMBER, England (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Townsend, a frail grey-haired widow, waited with the rest of the world Friday night to know if her son has won the hand of a princess.

For the 65-year-old mother of RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend it was no royal problem or affair of state, but just a question of her son's happiness.

"I have been so terribly worried about him," she told reporters.

"He's had years of unhappiness. All I long for is to see him happily married again, as my other children are."

Leaning over the garden gate outside her honey-colored cottage in this sleepy Somerset village, Mrs. Townsend spoke gently to reporters who asked if she would be meeting Princess Margaret soon.

"I haven't made any plans yet," she said. "I haven't bought a new frock or anything. I haven't even had my hair permed."

Of the Princess, she said:

"She is a very courageous woman who has had a lot to contend with. It is wonderful the way she has stood up to things and stuck it out."

Canada, Britain, U.S. To Swap Most Secret A-Information

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defence department said Friday that agreements have been signed making possible the exchange of secret atomic information among the United States, Britain and Canada. There was speculation that information on nuclear engines for submarines and surface ships was involved in the pacts.

In answer to questions, a department spokesman said the second of two agreements, covering the Atomic Energy Commission's part in the information swap, was signed last month. An agreement relating to the defence department's part was completed in July.

The agreements were made possible by amendments last year to the Atomic Energy Act, relaxing some of the original sharp restrictions on exchange of any type of secret information, even with allied countries.

The spokesman said he could not comment on details of the agreement.

In Ottawa, officials of the defence and external affairs departments said they are unaware of any new agreement under which the U.S. will provide Canada with nuclear information of a military nature. They also said they know of no U.S. plans to make such information available.

Canada and the United States last June signed an agreement providing for a wider exchange of information for development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. Under the agreement the U.S. is prohibited from giving Canada nuclear information of a military character.

Americans Off to War To Clear King's Name

NEW YORK (NANA)—After a 470-year interval, a group of distinguished Americans have banded together to clear the name of Richard Plantagenet.

Plantagenet, son of King Richard II of England, himself reigned as King Richard III from 1483 to August 22, 1485. On that day he was killed in the battle of Bosworth. Ever since, history has painted him as an evil-eyed, hunchbacked monster who murdered his way to the throne.

But all this is nonsense, according to the friends of Richard III, Inc.

An organization of theatrical and professional people, the friends believe that it's high time Richard III got a fair shake. The organization aimed at cleansing the king's memory includes as members, Helen Hayes, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Robert Montgomery and James Thurber.

They maintain that the reputation of King Richard III as lecherous, ambitious and bloodthirsty is a calumny. They think it was purposely begun by Richard's enemies in order to defame him and has since survived because later writers—including Shakespeare — were willing to repeat the untruths rather than study the full evidence.

For example, the 1955 edition of one encyclopedia declares "there is little doubt" that Richard murdered two young nephews, heirs to the throne, in the Tower of London. Friends of Richard III contend that "it has not been proven that the boys were murdered at all," much less by their mistreated uncle.

"Richard must be spinning in his grave at all the scandal spread about him in later years, says the friends of Richard III. Their purpose is to perpetuate his memory and "to see that misrepresentations are no longer perpetuated in text books and histories."
